SINN FEIN ARMY SHOWS ACTIVITY IN PREPARATION

Work of Enlisting Recruits and Drilling Them Continues in Many Parts of Ireland—Inspection of South Dublin Camp—Military Authorities Refrain From Interference.

DAIL EIREANN CHIEFS BUSY WITH CASE FOR CONFERENCE

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The movement to procure the release of Sinn Feiners under internment is growing in strength and insistency, according to advices reaching London. The Irish Nationalist press is urgently supporting the movement, but, so far as is known, the Sinn Fein leaders have made no representations to the Government, the attitude of which on the question is not known.

The military, however, according to The Times from Dublin, are not willing to have the interned men released, not because they are opposed to peace, but largely because of the activity of the "Irish Republican army," which, it is asserted, continues to enlist recruits and is drilling and marching them in many parts of Ireland without attempts at concealment, according to advices from Dublin.

Incidents such as the drilling of troops, as indicated in the dispatch from Dublin today, are in nowise new, and are well known to the military authorities. The authorities are not interfering, apparently agreeing with the Sinn Feiners that such operations are not technical breaches of the truce. The Times correspondent says, however, that the authorities cannot be expected to overlook the significance of these preparations, and that it seems unlikely that they will sanction a general release of the 3,600 interned men unless they obtain reasonable assurance that civil warfare will not be resumed.

It is probable, the correspondent adds, that their scruples would be removed if the early proceedings of the peace conference give substantial promise of a political settlement.

ENGINEER SUES FOR COMMISSION

Mr. Creer Seeks to Secure Payment From Joint Sewerage Board at Vancouver—Board Has Counter-Claim

VANCOUVER, Oct. 3.—At the end of September an agreement made in 1918 between the joint sewerage and drainage board and its engineer, A. D. Creer, was terminated by the board after three months' notice. By the agreement the engineer was to collect 5 per cent commission on all day-labor work and 4 1/2 per cent commission on contract work, and $5,000.00 was the maximum amount of work provided for. The engineer's writ in a suit for breach of contract was received by the board at a special meeting the morning and the engineer instructed to prepare a defence.

Incidentally, the board today summarily dismissed the engineer from its services, authorizing a letter that his services would no longer be required. Next came a resolution moved by Mayor Gale as a board member and carried unanimously, that the ex-engineer be asked to return immediately to the Sewerage Board's solicitor $17,396. This sum, it is claimed by members of the board, was paid to the engineer by chairman Hattie of the board, without the approval or consent of the board members, and totally without his knowledge until after payment had been made. The chairman's stand that he was authorized to pay the money under the then existing agreement was not the view taken by the balance of the board.

Some months ago the board discussed a new "interceptor" outfall scheme. According to statements of Reeves Lemble and McLean, also Mayor Gale, the engineer was merely asked to report on the necessity, time and cost of such a plan. He reported, submitting plans, also a bill for $17,396, which would have constituted his percentage commission under the agreement if plans had been actually called for. The board members were unanimous today in declaring that preparation of the plans was unauthorized, and when they asked for a mere report they did not expect to pay $17,396 for a set of plans which might not be acted upon for years, if ever.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA HAS GOOD PROSPECT

RIGA, Oct. 4.—A favorable report on Canadian trade prospects in Russia will be made to Ottawa by H. J. Mackie, member of the Canadian Parliament for the North Renfrew district, who has been in Russia to investigate trade possibilities. It is understood here.

The Canadian delegate passed through Riga on his way home after four weeks spent in Russia on his semi-official mission.

In the meantime, Arthur Griffiths and other political chiefs are busy preparing the Irish case for presentation to the conference. A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Dublin says that all manner of technical questions have been referred to unofficial committees, chosen solely for technical qualifications and regardless of political views. Some of the committees, the dispatch declares, are Unionist business men. One committee man is a former Government official.

The fiscal question, according to these dispatches, is receiving much attention. Irish economists, it declares, are anxious to insure that in the event Great Britain established a tariff against foreign goods, Ireland would not be compelled to follow.

Other points being considered include shipping and customs. Republican Military Camp. DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—Numerous newspaper writers and photographers were permitted on Sunday to visit the camp in the Dublin hills of the sixth battalion of the South Dublin Brigade, republic army, to witness the inspection of the troops. Through-out Ireland, drilling and inspection of this kind have been proceeding since the truce was signed.

This battalion ordinarily numbers about 1,000, but 150 of its members are at present interned, and about 100 are on leave of absence. The battalion is well equipped with arms and furnished with what is termed a "mobile" telephone. The visitors saw field telephones set up and a large ambulance class, with stretcher bearers.

Many of the instructors and men had served in the British army during the war. Two machine guns stood on the ground, and a large class was studying them. Eventually the battalion marched past the republican headquarters staff and formed a hollow square.

Delegation to Conference. DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—The Sinn Fein delegation to the conference in London beginning October 11, which will explore the possibility of a definite settlement, will leave Dublin next Monday, October 16, it was announced here today.

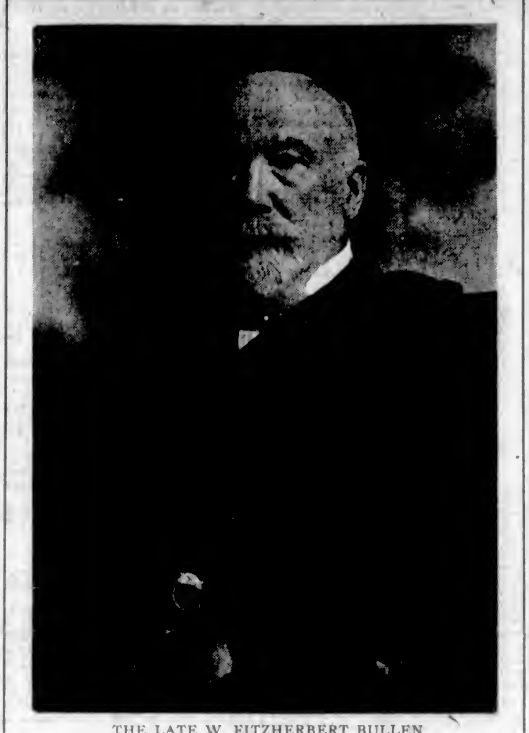

Emerson de Valera will not be one of the Sinn Fein delegates, and will not go to London in connection with the conference, according to Desmond Fitzgerald, the Sinn Fein minister of propaganda, who made the announcement regarding the delegation's departure.

BELFAST, Oct. 3.—Reports that Ulster had been invited to send delegates to the London conference next week on the Irish question, which have been in circulation here, were officially denied today.

DIGNITY OF ORDER OF BRITISH EMPIRE

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Lord Chamberlain, on the occasion of the investiture of the recipients of the order of the British Empire at Colchester today, said, on behalf of the King, that it had been the fashion of some people to decry this order.

Pioneer of B. C. Shipbuilding

THE LATE W. FITZHERBERT BULLEN

W. F. BULLEN IS CALLED TO REST

Founder of B.C. Marine Railway Died on Sunday—Forty-Three Years Resident in This City

The death occurred on Sunday, at his home on Esquimalt Road, of William Fitzherbert Bullen, a noted figure in the life of the community throughout forty-three years of residence here. Long associated with shipbuilding and its kindred activities in this vicinity, he was the founder of one branch of the industry here, and until a few years ago prominently identified with its expansion. The late Mr. Bullen had been unwell for some time, his ill-health culminating in a paralytic seizure on Saturday, and his death on Sunday.

Sixty-five years of age, the deceased was a native of Ontario, born in the vicinity of London on June 11, 1857, the son of W. F. and A. B. Bullen. He was privately educated in the East, and at the age of 21 came West. He reached this city in 1878, and had made his home here ever since.

In 1884 he married Miss Annie Amelia Bushby, daughter of Judge Bushby, and granddaughter of Sir James Douglas, first Governor of British Columbia. Early Days in City. On arrival on the Coast, the late Mr. Bullen became connected with the late Joseph Spratt in the Albion Iron Works, and was for fifteen years associated with that concern. In 1893 he decided to engage in shipbuilding, engineering and ship repairing, and founded the British Columbia Marine Railway Company, with yards on the shores of Esquimalt harbor. Of the Crandall patent, the railway was the first of its type to be constructed on the Pacific Coast, and then, as through the later years, enterprise of the keenest sort characterized the undertaking. As the day of sailing vessels passed, the works were amplified with further equipment needed for the repairing of steel and steam-driven ships. The company prospered, and eventually a branch of the business was established on the Mainland. This was located at Vancouver in 1907.

Shipbuilding Venture. The following year, in 1908, the enterprise was enlarged to include the construction of vessels as well as their repair. In the subsequent years the yard established a firm reputation as shipbuilders, with such steamers as the Princess Royal, the Princess Beatrice and the Princess Maquinn, of the Canadian Pacific British Columbia Coast service fleet. Other ships launched by the B.C. Marine were the Casco, and the quarantine tender Mado and the hydrographic survey cutter Lillicott for the Dominion Government. The work embodied in these vessels was of the highest order, and an enduring tribute to the workmanship of the pioneer shipyard.

With the late Mr. Bullen in the business were his brother, H. F. Bullen, for years managing director; Douglas P. Bullen, son of the deceased; and Mr. George G. Bushby, a cousin.

Sold Out to Yarrows. In 1914 the plant was disposed of to Yarrows & Company, the well-known British shipbuilding firm. The sale was completed in January of that year. By this purchase, however, the late Mr. Bullen did not lose all connection with shipbuilding in these waters. The company in its early days had owned a fleet of three mail-vessels, fully equipped to handle vessels of every nature. In 1900 the B.C. Marine Company had been organized with these, and in organization the late Mr. Bullen continued to hold an interest. Since the concern was reorganized in 1919 as the Pacific Salvage Company, he had been one of the directors of the latter company.

The deceased is survived by his widow, by one son, Douglas F. Bullen, and one daughter, Mrs. M. R. Jamieson, of this city. The obsequies, which will be strictly private, will be marked by the absence of mourning and flowers, in accordance with the expressed wish of the late Mr. Bullen.

ADJOURN CONFERENCE ON RAILWAY WAGES. MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—Owing to restricted facilities this afternoon, the brotherhood representatives of the sub-committee of the conference to discuss the wage reduction of 12 per cent proposed for railwaymen were unable to meet the representatives of the railways, but a further joint conference between the representatives of the men and the railway was arranged for tomorrow morning.

The conference met in the morning without arriving at any basis for a settlement, but discussion, it was said, was in an amicable spirit.

The conciliation board held itself in readiness all day for consultations or advice, but its services were not required. A time limit to Wednesday's manifesto. The date of the election will probably be the chief subject discussed at the meeting of the Cabinet tomorrow morning, after the attendance of all the parliamentarians and leaders of the party now in the province.

ESQUIMALT FORMS MEIGHEN PARTY

Heated Meeting at Which Rival Factions, Strongly Represented, Clear Away Misunderstandings

Amid scenes that at times assumed the proportions of a near riot, the National Liberal and Conservative Association of Esquimalt was organized last night at a meeting in the Rex Theatre of supporters of the Meighen administration in the urban section of that district. The theatre was packed to its utmost limit and a large number were forced to stand, a fact that prolonged proceedings in that a standing vote on matters before the gathering was impossible and all votes had to be taken by ballot.

It was without exception the "warmest" political gathering ever held in the sea port, the heat engendered not being due to differences on political principles, but wholly aroused through the differences which have arisen over the recent meeting called on ten hours' notice at the Sailors' Club, which, without going to the formality of duly organizing an association, elected delegates to the Duncan nominating convention which met last Wednesday at that point and adjourned, but not until after the delegates selected at the meeting was accepted by the chairman of the convention, Senator Plante.

Hence it was that last night's meeting proceeded to call for nominations for delegates, the question of the status of each before the convention was the subject of acrimonious debate, the suggestion that new delegates should be named, and the opposing one that those already named at the first meeting at the Sailors' Club should be renamed, giving adherents of the two factions which have arisen full scope for their criticisms of each other. When the meeting concluded the chairman, Mr. Leonard Tall, who so hoarse he could hardly speak, but the verbal contest, (Continued on Page 18)

TYROL MAY SEVER TIES WITH AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Oct. 3.—The Austrian Tyrol has again closed its frontiers to residents of other parts of Austria and prohibited exports of foodstuffs. In a manifesto the provincial Government declared that if the federal Government is unable to check the mad profiteering and speculation which are threatening the ruin of the country, then Tyrol and Austria must part.

THOUSANDS DO HONOR TO FALLEN

Huge Assemblage Witnesses Dedication of Memorial Avenue to Commemorate B.C. War Heroes

More than 5,000 Victorians stood with bowed heads in silent tribute while Memorial Avenue, established in honor of British Columbia's fallen warriors, was being dedicated Sunday afternoon by Lieut-Governor Walter G. Nichol.

The first tree of the boulevard which will line the avenue was planted during the ceremony by the Lieutenant-Governor. Hon. J. D. MacLean, representing the Provincial Government, spoke, and the dedicatory prayers were led by Rev. M. T. Habershon, president of the Ministerial Association. Bishop Macdonald pronounced the benediction. The event was one of the most impressive within the memory of Victorians.

Over two miles of automobiles on either side lined the Mount Douglas portion of Shelbourne Street, where Memorial Avenue is being established. The crowd was so great and necessarily packed into such a small space that some difficulty was experienced in controlling it. Mothers, widows and other relatives of soldiers and sailors who died in the war formed a large part of the assemblage. Jitneys and sightseeing cars laden to capacity with people lined up on the city, carrying people to the ceremony.

Owing to the great crowd that had assembled it was deemed inadvisable to fire the few shots that had been planned as a demonstration of how the holes in which the trees are planted are dug.

Meeting at Amherst, N.S., Listens Intently to Premier Meighen's Speech Opening His Campaign in Far Eastern Provinces—Protection Is the Central Point of Discourse

FREE TRADE MEANS RUIN FOR CANADA

Moderate Protection Is Only Weapon of Defence Against Overwhelming Competition and for Preservation of Country's Industries—Liberal Leader's Charge of Autocracy

AMHERST, N.S., Oct. 3.—Reiterating his plea for a protective tariff, Premier Meighen today opened his campaign in the Maritime Provinces with a speech which was heard by an audience approximating 2,000 in the Armories here. The Prime Minister again charged Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Party, with duplicity in tariff matters, and issued another rebuttal of charges of extravagance and autocracy in government.

Mr. Meighen received a respectful hearing from an audience which displayed a concentrated interest in the arguments adduced by him. With great earnestness he warned his hearers of injurious results from abandoning the present tariff system. Canada would become a back door, a mere dumping ground to the United States; her industries would die and the present unemployment evil would be aggravated.

Hon. F. B. McCurdy, Minister of Public Works, resented charges made by the Liberal leader that the Prime Minister was autocratic in his methods, and insisted that Mr. Meighen's ability, his courage, his firmness, his devotion to the country, his superb self-confidence, mark him out as a man who can safely lead us.

The minister asked what Mr. King had done while Canada was fighting the war. "Oh," he said, "Mr. King was reserving himself against the day when the war having been brought to a victorious end, thanks be to God, who, through the gallantry of our noble men, gave us victory, he might go to and fro in the land seeking to make political capital out of things which were done or were not done."

Andre Yvaneau, the newly-appointed Solicitor-General, said the people of Quebec had decided to take their part in the councils of the country in a broad, friendly spirit.

Protection Necessary. Premier Meighen, after referring to the great men Nova Scotia had given to Canada, asked the gathering what they were voting for in the coming election. He declared that the Liberals were advancing other issues in order to evade the tariff issue. He was charged by Mr. King with autocracy, but the most democratic legislation, the law which gave women votes, had been put through by the Conservative Government, though offered by the opposition. Turning to the tariff, Mr. Meighen referred to the Liberal policy as announced in the platform of the party. He insisted that the Liberal policy would mean the end of the country.

"Make the platform law, and you will have free trade and nothing else," declared Mr. Meighen. The Liberals had adopted their platform in order to try and swing the farmers, but he asked them: Why did they want to do that? Because this movement had gained tremendous strength in the West, and the Liberal leader wanted to get control of the organization behind it. Mr. King went out into the West and preached free trade. He came into the East and called for protection. Is the West the agrarian party that eliminated the Liberal party about 1911?

"The moment this country decides that it is through with protection that moment it starts down the path of commercial abasement by the United States," declared the Premier.

Free Trade Spells Ruin. The Premier emphasized that every country in the world had protection to day, and every country was increasing it. If there is any country in the world that has everything to lose by abandoning protection that country is Canada, he said. We are living beside a huge nation which had a protective tariff wall and was building it higher. The Prime Minister appealed to the farmers. He asked them if they seriously proposed voting for a policy which would admit the exportable surplus into Canada from the United States, which would kill the home market, which would kill the home market for agricultural products. He asked the laboring classes if they wanted to kill the common industries. The platform of the Progressives and the Liberals were both wrong, and the only country which would benefit from them was the United States.

"Do not be thinking so much against Canadian industry as to vote in favor of American industries," said Mr. Meighen.

Mr. Meighen declared the United States had sold this country $1,000,000,000 worth of goods more than Canada had sold to the United States in the last five years. The depreciation of the Canadian dollar in the United States was the inevitable result. A moderate protective tariff is the sound and true policy for Canada, insisted the Prime Minister, and he declared that the great Liberal leaders of the past as well as the Conservatives, had appreciated this fact. It was time for Canada to have her own row on tariff matters.

Mr. King Fears Farmers. DIGBY, N.S., Oct. 3.—If the Liberals in 1911 had not gone down to defeat fighting the battles of the farmers in the reciprocity pact, there might be some excuse for putting farmer candidates in every riding in Canada, declared Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, at tonight's meeting. But as it is, they are dividing the forces of progress in seeking, not alone a voice in the government, but a group in the government of their own country. It would not be surprising if the common enemy of Farmers and Liberals had been responsible for many of the farmer candidates being placed in the field.

"I see my friend Mr. Davidson (the sitting member) in the hall," he said. "Wouldn't he enjoy seeing a Farmer candidate in the riding to take votes away from Dr. Lovett, who represents the Liberals, and who will be the next member for Digby-Annapolis?"

Hon. Mr. King was well received in Digby. Hon. H. S. Bland, Hon. W. S. Fielding and Dr. Lovett, the Liberal candidate, also addressed the gathering.

PRIMATE ASKS PRAYER FOR CONFERENCE

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, as president of the World Alliance for promoting international friendship through the churches, has addressed a letter to presidents of the national councils in America, Europe and Asia, appealing to Christian churches to set apart Sunday, November 8, as a day of prayer for the Divine blessing on the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and far Eastern problems beginning November 11.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The death is announced of Sir William Edwards Garforth, aged 74 years. He was prominent in mining and engineering circles in Great Britain and was created a knight in 1914.

KING GEORGE WISHES NO EXTRA EXPENSE

LONDON, Oct. 3.—King George, who will go to Manchester on Saturday next to reopen the Royal Exchange, has expressed a desire that no expense be incurred for decorations of any kind, or anything else except for a formal reception. His Majesty is providing his own equipage, and will have his luncheon on the train.

This announcement, while showing the King's interest along the line of economy during these hard times, again arouses a certain amount of discussion as to whether the general public does not prefer to witness some of the old-time pomp associated with royal movements.

One critic, writing in a well-known weekly paper, goes so far as to say that His Majesty is being poorly advised in regard to this matter, advising that there have been several instances recently "that seem to reveal blundering, lack of tact and a serious lack of imagination, with sometimes a total misreading of the public opinion."

Manchester itself, however, has received the royal ultimatum without particular comment.

MR. F. F. BUSTEED DIES SUDDENLY

Widely-Known Former Superintendent of C.P.R. Passes Away at Vancouver—Engineer of Great Works

VANCOUVER, Oct. 3.—Francis Ferguson Busteed, former general superintendent of the C. P. R., and one of the best-known railroad construction superintendents of the West, died suddenly of heart disease last night at his home here.

Mr. Busteed was 63 years old and had been a resident of Vancouver for many years.

He was born at Battery Point, P. Q., in 1858, attended Montreal High School and graduated from McGill University. He was married in 1885 to Miss Clara Ferguson, and entered the C. P. R. service in 1879.

Mr. Busteed was appointed assistant chief engineer of the C. P. R. in June, 1884, and in 1897 was appointed general superintendent in British Columbia. He was transferred to Winnipeg as general superintendent of the Manitoba division in 1911. He re-entered the engineering department of the road the same year, in charge of double-tracking and grading the division from Calgary to the Coast.

Mr. Busteed went on the retired list in 1915 and since that time had done little active work.

Mr. Busteed was in charge of some of the greatest engineering works of the Dominion, among them the construction of the spiral tunnel through the Rockies at Field, B. C.

After retiring from active work, Mr. Busteed made his home at Glenora Lodge until a week ago, when he took a house at Fifth and Telme Streets.

He had apparently been in excellent health and his death was entirely unexpected. He was stricken early yesterday in his home, and died a few hours later.

Surviving Mr. Busteed are Mrs. Busteed, a brother, T. D. Busteed, Cross Point, P. Q.; a son, Dr. F. F. Busteed, 1163 Twenty-sixth Avenue, West, Vancouver; and a daughter, Miss Marjorie Busteed, living at home. A younger son, Francis A. Busteed, was killed in the war. Mr. Busteed was a brother of the late Lieut.-Col. Edward Botsford Busteed, K. C., of Montreal.

Plans to help immigration Association Secures Incorporation at Ottawa With Purpose of Bringing Settlers, Especially From Britain

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—With the purpose of assisting the best of the immigrants into Canada, the British Immigration Aid Association has just been incorporated. Those to whom the letters patent have been issued are L. H. Davidson, K. C.; Lieutenant Colonel R. H. Lordy, John Chisholm, President minister and chaplain and director of immigration; G. K. Gault, M. P. P., and A. D. Stewart, M. D., all of Montreal.

British-born subjects of good health and character, who are willing to migrate to Canada from any part of the world, but especially from the British Isles. The association also has other charitable organizations engaged in similar work. Advice and guidance are to be placed at the disposal of intending immigrants. Agents are to be appointed to receive and help them on their arrival in Canada.

It is proposed to acquire a revenue for the purpose of the association from gifts by will or donation from membership fees, in addition to collecting money advanced to immigrants.

AGAINST GOVERNMENT RAILWAY OWNERSHIP

ORMSTOWN, Que., Oct. 3.—Strong condemnation of Government ownership and operation of railways, both in principle and practice, was voiced by Hon. Walter Mitchell, Provincial Treasurer of Quebec, and J. A. Robb, M. P. for the federal riding of Chateauguay-Huntingdon, in the course of a meeting Saturday at which Mr. Robb was chosen as Liberal candidate for the riding at the coming elections.

"I say with knowledge of all the responsibility that I know will attach to my words, that if the railway policy is continued, there is nothing for the Dominion of Canada, but bankruptcy, and there is no cure for it," declared Hon. Mr. Mitchell.

Found Dead After Scuffle
REGINA, Oct. 3.—James B. Dempsey, aged 47, believed to be a Regina man, was found dead at the Union Station last night, and Constable Jolly, of the C. P. R., is being held by the city police until the result of a coroner's inquest in the case is known. According to the police, Dempsey and Jolly were engaged in a scuffle, Dempsey being found later in a dying condition.

LIQUOR ACT ARRESTS MADE AT REVELSTOKE

REVELSTOKE, Oct. 3.—Chief Inspector Miller, of the Liquor Control Board, accompanied by a staff of assistants from Vancouver, effected the arrest of seven citizens before daylight this morning, charged with illegally selling intoxicating liquors.

Those under arrest include Jack McCarthy, Joe Creesman, Jack Laughlin, and Ace Hillman, all of the Windsor Hotel; Jack McKinley, of the Seikwa Hotel; Jack Hammill, of the King Edward; and James Robertson, of the Victoria.

The officers came in from the coast on C.P.R. express No. 4, at midnight, and proceeded to the residence of Chief of Police W. W. Spratt, who piloted them to the various hostilities, where the arrests were made.

The Provincial authorities were in the city about ten days ago, procuring evidence under the British Columbia Liquor Act, and when they arrived in the city on Sunday night they were armed with warrants. At the police station today the cases were remanded for one week, each of the accused being released on bail.

SAYS AUSTRALIA MAY BE SWAMPED

Lord Northcliffe Warns Commonwealth of Danger From Influx of Asiatic Hordes—Should Foster White Settlers

LONDON, Oct. 3.—An urgent appeal to Australians to keep Australia a white country, and a strong warning that unless white immigration is encouraged, the country was likely to be swamped by Asiatics, whether the Australians were willing or not, was issued by Lord Northcliffe at Sydney when he left there Saturday for the Philippines.

"Australia's magnitude and riches and the weakness of its garrison are known to all over-crowded nations in the Near North," said the appeal. "Governments whose circumstances may one day make them hostile to the Commonwealth probably know more about the possibilities of this country as the home of scores of millions of people than is known by most Australians."

"Australians seem not properly awake to the fact that they live in an age which has lately proved itself not distinguished by respect for international rights. Today moral right must be based on capacity in arms, crowded and restless, and some of the world's present position and immediate future are precarious. "If I am amazed at your indifference to events and portents in the outside world, especially in Asia. Within a fortnight's steam of your Commonwealth, there are thousands of millions of people, all of whom are ambitious and powerful; yet you continue your work and play as though just for territory had not, all down the centuries, been the cause of war, and though the history of the world had not been the story of the overthrow of the weak by the strong. The Commonwealth may still be saved by the Anglo-Saxon race. You must increase your garrison by the multiplication of your people; only numbers will save you. The world will tolerate an empty, idle Australia."

"This continent, like other continents, does its full share in production. Ten millions of people will come here, whether you wish it or not. You cannot hold up a human flood by restriction clauses in an act of parliament. The world of parliament has little international force. Ambitions and passions are alive to this question."

Lord Northcliffe urged Australia to devise immediately a bold immigration policy, and assured them that British investors would support the right sort of scheme which would attract suitable immigrants from Great Britain.

OLD SHELLS EXPLODE, WITH FATAL EFFECT

UDINE, Italy, Oct. 2.—Thirteen men were killed today when an explosion occurred in a plant making fertilizer from old shells brought from the battlefields.

The "dud" which was the cause of the explosion, set off a number of other shells. In addition, the explosion killed a large number of persons were injured.

KU KLUX KLAN BRANCH FORMED IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—The famous society known throughout the world as the Ku Klux Klan is organizing in Montreal. A branch of the organization is already in existence here, but has not as yet become a chartered branch of the mother body of the "Invisible Empire."

A letter addressed to Colonel William J. Simmons, Imperial Wizard of Empress of the secret Klan, was mailed to his palace in Atlanta, Ga., Saturday night. This letter contained a request for a charter and full rights to a body of men in a state of semi-organization in this city as "a realm" or "domain," at the pleasure of the emperor.

OAKVILLE CITIZEN BURNED UNDER CAR

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Pinned under a car which had skidded from the wet pavement and overturned into a ditch on the Hamilton highway, John Forster, a prominent Oakville man, was literally burned alive last night. When the small, occurred Forster was held under the seat as the gasoline tank burst and set fire to the car. Would-be helpers from other automobiles were without a rope with which to move the car.

Forster leaves a wife and three children.

SOVIET PERMITS TRADE FREEDOM

Another Change in Economic Policy Announced at Moscow—Will Enable Concessionaires to Embark on Work

MOSCOW, Oct. 3.—Another marked change in economic policy is announced in the decision of the economic council to permit co-operative organizations and concessionaires to buy machinery and raw materials abroad independent of the government. Only the consent of the commissary of trade will be required. The co-operative societies also will be permitted representation in the soviet missions abroad and allowed to export Russian manufactured goods with the consent of the commissary of trade.

This change is designed to enable concessionaires who have already taken over small factories to get supplies and machinery necessary for the resumption of industries generally, and it is regarded as a decided step toward complete freedom of export and import trade, which heretofore has been monopolized by the government, together with domestic trade, which is not free.

The soviet announces that hereafter all meat must be butchered in government slaughter houses, five per cent of the meat and certain other products being taken as the government tax.

The official exchange rates are announced as follows:

A dollar is worth 4,000 roubles; an English pound, 221,400 roubles; French franc, 4,000; German mark, 600; Polish zloty, 15.

KING OF JUGO-SLAVIA IN AUTO COLLISION

PARIS, Oct. 3.—Mystery continues to surround the condition of the health of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia. He was recently reported to have suffered a relapse, following an operation, and it was said he was unable to return to Belgrade for his coronation. It was officially announced at the Jugo-Slav legation that he had merely taken a cold.

On Friday night, it is declared by The Journal, King Alexander while riding in his automobile, collided with a car owned by Count Bonin-Longara, Italian ambassador to France. The King's motor was so badly damaged that he was forced to return to Versailles, where he is staying. The Italian ambassador was in his car when the collision occurred.

BRITAIN MAY END DAYLIGHT SAVING

Return to Use of Greenwich Time Is Expected in Various Quarters to Be Permanent—Fate of Bill Doubtful

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Great Britain was today working under Greenwich time, Summer time having ended this morning.

It is possible that the daylight saving plan will not be resumed in future, in the words of newspapers, as it has encountered considerable opposition in agricultural quarters and from theatrical, educational and railroad interests. These are expected to endeavor to defeat the bill for making daylight saving a permanent feature each Summer. The bill was introduced in parliament during the last session by the Home Secretary, and forces opposing it will be marshalled when it comes up for second reading after parliament re-assembles.

The London Times today printed a long letter by Dr. Benjamin Moore, professor of bio-chemistry at Oxford, who argues that from the health position, daylight saving in Summer is not a benefit but an evil, especially during a season of intense sunburns and high temperatures, such as was experienced in the British Isles this year.

He admits, however, that during a cold, dull Summer, daylight saving time would be beneficial. Dr. Moore contends that the plan of advancing the clocks one hour during the Summer months is particularly disadvantageous to school children, agricultural interests and some industrial workers.

FAMILIES IN U.S. DECREASE IN SIZE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Decrease during the last decade in the average number of persons in a family and to a dwelling in the United States is indicated by comparative statistics made public today by the census bureau.

The 1920 census showed that the nation's population was grouped into

COTTON CROP DECLINES AND MARKET REVERSES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Further decline in the condition of cotton during September resulted in a reduction of 500,000 bales in the forecast of production issued today by the Department of Agriculture, which places the total crop at 6,537,000 equivalent 500-pound bales.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The cotton market here made a sensational break today following the publication of the official crop condition figures by the Department of Agriculture. After selling up to 21 1/2 cents for December delivery, a new high record, prices broke 3 1/2 a bale.

MONTREAL MAN JOINS CABINET

Andre Fauteux Is Appointed Solicitor-General and Will Run in Terrebonne—Number of Candidates Nominated

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—Andre Fauteux, K.C., of Montreal, has been appointed Solicitor-General in the new Meighen Cabinet. Mr. Fauteux is about 40 years old, and is not new to politics. He twice contested Two Mountains against J. A. C. Elzner and was defeated once. In his second attempt, in 1908, his nomination paper was rejected.

It was rumored last night that, although the post of Solicitor-General does not carry full cabinet rank, the new appointee will be made a Privy Councillor. This would give him a seat at the head table.

ST. JEROME, Que., Oct. 3.—Hon. Andre Fauteux, Solicitor-General in Premier Meighen's Cabinet, has been unanimously chosen to be the Government standard-bearer in Terrebonne County in the coming general elections.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 3.—Commenting on a report that Lieutenant-Governor Pugsley would be a candidate in the approaching elections, Premier Foster of New Brunswick, in the absence of the Governor, said last night that the latter had not given authority for the use of his name, and had not given further consideration to the matter of candidacy. Concerning the report that he himself would be a candidate in the Federal riding of St. John and Albert, Premier Foster said: "The balance is on the side of probability that I will not be a candidate."

HENSLALL, Ont., Oct. 3.—J. J. Mermer, M.P., was the choice of the National Liberal and Conservative party in the Federal constituency of South Huron at a convention held here Saturday.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 3.—The nomination of C. F. Woodley, a farmer, of Lynden, as the Farmer-Labor candidate in the Federal riding at Wentworth, was carried out at a joint convention of labor and U. F. O. delegates on Saturday.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 3.—Archibald L. Hodgins, of Linton, president of the East Middlesex U. F. O., was nominated here on Saturday afternoon as the Farmer-Labor candidate in the Federal riding of East Middlesex.

SIERRHOOKE, Que., Oct. 3.—At a convention held at Knowlton on Saturday afternoon the Liberals of Brome County again nominated A. R. McMaster, M.P.

SOREL, Que., Oct. 3.—At a Liberal convention here Saturday, H. J. Cardin, M.P. for this city, was chosen Liberal candidate for the County of Richelieu.

MONCTON, N.B., Oct. 3.—A. T. Leger, sitting member, was chosen Liberal standard-bearer for Kent on Saturday.

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 3.—Dr. J. E. Helt, former mayor of Kitchener, was chosen on Saturday as the Labor-Farmer candidate in North Waterloo riding.

GUELPH, Ont., Oct. 3.—Ex-Reeve James Singer, of Nichol Township, was elected at the joint U. F. O.-Independent Labor Party convention here Saturday afternoon as the Farmer-Labor candidate in the Federal riding of South Wellington.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 3.—Alex. McDougall, K.C., was the Liberal nominee chosen at a party convention on Saturday to contest the Federal riding of South York. He was the Liberal candidate in 1917.

BARRIE, Ont., Oct. 3.—Thomas E. Rom, of Oro Township, was chosen on Saturday as the Progressive candidate in the riding of North Simcoe.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 3.—Gordon C. Wilson, the sitting member for Wentworth in the Federal House, was again nominated at the National Liberal and Conservative convention Saturday.

Murdered Man Was Shot

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3.—George, Martindale, householder, of Sprague, Man., who was murdered at his farm last Thursday night, was shot in the head from the rear, the latest evidence in the case discloses. Colonel J. G. Rattray, provincial police commissioner, stated today. Identity of his assailant remains a mystery, and the only clue the police have to work on is a man's footprint in the soft earth, Colonel Rattray declared.

Troops from Work Point Barracks formed the guard of honor to the Lieutenant-Governor, and there were detachments present from the 5th Regiment, 16th Battalion, the Boys' Naval Brigade and the Boy Scouts, while all ex-service organizations were represented, as well as many public and semi-public bodies.

Immediately His Honor had planted the tree a bugler sounded "Last Post" and as the last long wailing note of that mournful call died away the half-muffled sounds of sobb, no doubt from the hearts of those bereaved in the Great War, could be heard in many directions. It was a most impressive incident.

"We are gathered here," said His Honor, "on behalf of all the people of British Columbia to consecrate the avenue to be constructed here to the memories of those who fought and fell in the service of their Empire in South Africa and in France and Flanders that peace and civilization might endure. We are met to plant the first tree of the graceful and useful avenue that has been designed, and we are met to stand with bowed and reverent heads for a space, our hearts swept by a cry of sad and tender memories in solemn devotion. And last of all we are met to bring to those who weep and mourn a message of consolation and of hope from those who sympathize and pity."

"He who plants a tree plants a hope. Old men plant young trees and the fruit of their planting goes to another age. God's first temples were the groves. It is fitting that this Memorial, coming as it does and will from the overflowing hearts of all those in British Columbia who have known the loss of relatives and friends most dear, should glorify the earth with beauty and the eternal verities of immortality."

Double Border Planned

"You will find by reading the programme of today's ceremony which you hold in your hands that the plan as at present conceived is to have a double border of plane and mountain ash trees planted alternately, thirty feet apart, along Shelbourne Street, thus connecting Mount Douglas Park with the city. It is noted that the ash tree grows rapidly and reaches maturity in a few years. The ash is credited with another characteristic which I do not find mentioned here, and that is that in certain storms, under certain conditions, it means as if in a flash or in pain. If this is so, it is perhaps as well that the intention is that when the plane trees, which are of slower growth, reach maturity, the ash will be removed and the avenue will be uniform as it were, in its full beauty of form and leaf. For the plane tree is a beautiful thing. It was held in such esteem by the ancients for its stately majesty and graceful shade that upon occasions they poured wine upon its roots and bedecked its limbs with jewels and with gold. Those of you who are familiar with the world of Hieroglyphs will readily recall that when Xerxes was on his way to Italy with his huge army he met with a plane tree of such beauty and charm that he fastened it with golden ornaments and the avenue will be uniform as it were, in its full beauty of form and leaf. THE LATE MR. W. F. BULLEN

Though retired for some seven years past from the active industrial life of the Province, Mr. W. F. Bullen, who has just passed away, continued, even in retirement, to interest himself in Provincial matters of development. During his active years he did much to encourage shipbuilding and ship repairing on this coast by engaging the investment of considerable sums of money and by the energy which he infused into the industry. The deceased, associated with his brother, Mr. H. F. Bullen, were prominent for many years in the shipping life of the Dominion, and the B.C. Marine Railway Company, taken over by them, they sold it by Yarrows Limited, and the B.C. Salvage Company, stand as records of the part which they played in development. The B.C. Salvage Company has accomplished many notable feats and in relation to the extent of its operations, and they have been manifold. It has a record second to none on this continent.

The late Mr. Bullen was something more than an instrument of advancement in industrial affairs. He was a stalwart citizen of and a firm believer in the future of Victoria and Vancouver Island. The years that have passed since his retirement from an active career have been marked by the display of a very keen interest in all essential patriotic and charitable undertakings. On many occasions he gave, and gave substantially, out of the kindness of his heart and no genuine appeal was ever made to him in vain. The city and the Province are the poorer by the loss of such a citizen, and the heartfelt sympathy of all who knew and admired Mr. Bullen's many likeable characteristics will be extended to the surviving members of his family.

A MUNICIPAL TASK

The next Mayor and aldermen to be elected in Victoria will have a very important task to perform in regarding the financial situation. Similarly, the new School Board will have new responsibilities in the light of its financial record in the past. During the coming session of the Legislature some measure of relief for municipal finances is to be passed. That tentatively promised includes the allocation to municipalities of the receipts of the personal property tax and an additional Provincial grant to education. The municipalities at present, by legislation, are entitled to a portion of the proceeds from the Government Control policy of the sale of liquor, and it is probable that within the next few months an approximate estimate of the annual municipal revenue to be derived from this source will be available. In any case, the financial situation will have been cleared up to the extent that the City Council will know what readjustments have to be made, or, in other words, what new revenue is to be forthcoming and how it will be applied to relieve the existing taxation burden.

The Government is to give an additional grant to education. In this connection the School Board should recognize this does not mean that the money will be provided for expenditures over and above those already included in for school purposes. On the contrary, what the Government proposes is the nature of relief, then the additional educational grant is to relieve the present strain on the civic exchequer for school purposes. This should be understood clearly, and in this regard a city council should make its policy apparent. The additional educational grant is meant to relieve municipal taxation and should be understood as such, except so far as routine growth of population is concerned, there should be no renewed demands from the School Board on the civic exchequer until such time as the financial situation is fully adjusted, when extraordinary expenditures might be possible. In addition, it should be specified that the increase in the Provincial educational grant would not infringe in any way on the right of the people to decide by vote on money by-law on any extraordinary expenditures for school purposes.

As a result of the Provincial relief forthwith, and when it is definitely incorporated in legislation and assurance given that it will be available during 1922, the people in municipalities will expect a substantial reduction in the taxation on land. It is the abnormal monetary value placed on land which has brought a number of municipalities to their present impasse. The first step towards readjustment is to tax land no more than it is able to pay. This city is at present engaged in a tax sale, and it seems as if ninety per cent, or more, of the land offered will revert to the municipality because there are no purchasers. This condition is not brought about because there is no intrinsic value in the land, but because its equity has disappeared through taxation which can only be described as inequitable. The fact that Victoria's population has only shown such a comparatively small increase during the past decade is due, in one respect, to municipal taxation of land, and if there is to be any progress and prosperity in the future it is essential that there should be relief in this taxation and a new basis devised for assessing land values. The city now owns millions of dollars worth of land which has reverted to it through tax sales and for which it can find no purchasers. The policy which has brought this situation about is one little better than outright confiscation, and, indeed, the results are equally disastrous.

For the reasons enumerated we would urge careful consideration of how Provincial relief for municipal taxation burdens is allocated when it is secured. The first essential is to make a repudiation of the existing conditions an impossibility, but that cannot be done until tax sales of the volume of the one now in progress are eliminated. The City Council has a mission to restore an equity in land in Victoria, as considered in the aggregate. There are flagrant cases of burdensome taxation which have to be righted. There is an erroneous and suicidal method of assessing land values which calls urgently for reform. The policy pursued in the past—through taxation—of alienating property from private ownership has brought in its train evils which cannot be grappled with too soon. That is why we say that the next Mayor and council of this city will have a very important task to perform. It is one that, up to the present time, has been given altogether too little thought.

VOTERS' LISTS

The Provincial voters' lists, which are to form the basis of the lists to be compiled for the coming Federal election, are, in this Province, a year old and will require a good deal of revision. On these lists there are the names of a number of people who have passed away during the last twelve months, and these will have to be removed. Since this time last year many new residents have come to the Province who are entitled to vote but who have had no opportunity to register, and the lists will be open to these during the period of a week or so as soon as preparations can be made after dissolution. There must also be a number of cases where residents of one part of the Province who have moved to some other place within British Columbia wish to have their votes transferred. They will have the opportunity before the general election is held.

The Dominion Government will save a good deal of money by preparing its lists on the basis of the existing Provincial lists where these are not more than two years old, but it is essential that these lists should be brought up to date. From this time on, all who have the qualifications should make a point of seeing if their names are on the Provincial voters' lists, and if not, they should make application when these are being revised. With the method that has been adopted, and provided voters' lists are distributed in such a way that no one will have any excuse of not having seen them, there is no reason why there should not be a full registration in connection with the coming election. Co-operation on the part of the Provincial Government would be of very great assistance to the Federal authorities in the revision of the lists.

LINEHAM PLAN WILL BENEFIT THE NORTH

Such Is Contentment of Chamber of Commerce Directors, Who Look for Support From Interior Points

That the Lineham scheme for the capitalization of British Columbia's natural assets from the tourist standpoint will be of particular benefit to the northern sections of the Province, and that strong support should be given to that quarter, was the belief expressed by speakers at yesterday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors.

Mr. Arthur Lineham, originator of the plan, reported on his recent visits to various Mainland Boards of Trade, stating that invariably he was given an interested hearing and assured of the project's endorsement. He thought that the Provincial Government should be prepared now to give a definite answer as to whether it was ready to undertake a permanent policy for the encouragement of tourism, that early interviews with Premier Oliver and members of the Cabinet had given him the impression that the Government's attitude was favorable.

Mr. Lineham suggested the appointment of a committee of three members of the Chamber of Commerce to wait upon the Premier and ask for a reply. After some discussion, however, it was decided to leave the matter over for a week.

DR. WARNOCK OPENED LADYSMITH FALL FAIR

Agricultural Possibilities of Up-Island District Evidenced by Successful Exhibition Last Week

LADYSMITH, Oct. 1.—The annual exhibition of the Ladysmith Agricultural Society was held last Wednesday and Thursday. The ladies' and children's sections were very creditable to the exhibitors, some of the work sent in by the children being of first class standard and drew the applause of the judges. Owing to a lack of space the Central Public School did not send in a school exhibit as usual, but the pupils of St. Joseph's convent exhibited their work, and many favorable comments were made on the standard reached by the pupils.

The livestock section was a great improvement this year over previous years, and the Agricultural Society is to be commended on the inducement made to the farmers of the district to send in their livestock, transportation being made by the society one way. As a result, this section was much larger than in former years and the quality of the beasts was remarked upon by the judges.

The official opening of the show was carried out by Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Dr. David Warnock, O.B.E., who delivered a very interesting address, which was enjoyed and appreciated by all present. In his opening remarks Dr. Warnock said that he was convinced that the Ladysmith district had a splendid agricultural future if the right methods were adopted. The soil was here, the climatic conditions were all that could be desired, and all that was needed was co-operation among the producers and the introduction of more scientific methods in farming.

Among the various phases of the problem dealt with by Dr. Warnock were the questions of the organization and centralization of the crops so as to ensure a market for the produce at a good price. Also the question of the seed to be used, particularly in the growing of potatoes, needed to be gone into. The speaker dealt with the work done by his department to ensure a good potato seed could be procured by the farmer, and elaborated on the work of the special inspectors and potato experts engaged by his department, especially in the Ashcroft and Kamloops districts. By taking advantage of this and by seeing that the crops of potatoes raised by the white farmers were of the highest quality, the speaker could see the quickest and surest method of dealing with the Oriental question of the Province. It was only a question of a short time when the Chinese would come up to the standard of the white farmer or would have to get out.

The speaker dealt with the advancement of agriculture in the less developed parts of the Province, and concluded his address by assuring the farmers and fruitgrowers of the district that the department of his department were at the disposal of the farmers and advised them to procure the assistance of the inspectors and experts in the growing of their crops. The following is the complete prize list as awarded by the judges in the various departments:

DR. WARNOCK OPENED LADYSMITH FALL FAIR

Agricultural Possibilities of Up-Island District Evidenced by Successful Exhibition Last Week

LADYSMITH, Oct. 1.—The annual exhibition of the Ladysmith Agricultural Society was held last Wednesday and Thursday. The ladies' and children's sections were very creditable to the exhibitors, some of the work sent in by the children being of first class standard and drew the applause of the judges. Owing to a lack of space the Central Public School did not send in a school exhibit as usual, but the pupils of St. Joseph's convent exhibited their work, and many favorable comments were made on the standard reached by the pupils.

The livestock section was a great improvement this year over previous years, and the Agricultural Society is to be commended on the inducement made to the farmers of the district to send in their livestock, transportation being made by the society one way. As a result, this section was much larger than in former years and the quality of the beasts was remarked upon by the judges.

The official opening of the show was carried out by Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Dr. David Warnock, O.B.E., who delivered a very interesting address, which was enjoyed and appreciated by all present. In his opening remarks Dr. Warnock said that he was convinced that the Ladysmith district had a splendid agricultural future if the right methods were adopted. The soil was here, the climatic conditions were all that could be desired, and all that was needed was co-operation among the producers and the introduction of more scientific methods in farming.

Among the various phases of the problem dealt with by Dr. Warnock were the questions of the organization and centralization of the crops so as to ensure a market for the produce at a good price. Also the question of the seed to be used, particularly in the growing of potatoes, needed to be gone into. The speaker dealt with the work done by his department to ensure a good potato seed could be procured by the farmer, and elaborated on the work of the special inspectors and potato experts engaged by his department, especially in the Ashcroft and Kamloops districts. By taking advantage of this and by seeing that the crops of potatoes raised by the white farmers were of the highest quality, the speaker could see the quickest and surest method of dealing with the Oriental question of the Province. It was only a question of a short time when the Chinese would come up to the standard of the white farmer or would have to get out.

The speaker dealt with the advancement of agriculture in the less developed parts of the Province, and concluded his address by assuring the farmers and fruitgrowers of the district that the department of his department were at the disposal of the farmers and advised them to procure the assistance of the inspectors and experts in the growing of their crops. The following is the complete prize list as awarded by the judges in the various departments:

NOT YET A CANDIDATE

Mr. H. G. Perry's Name Before the Kamloops Convention Unsanctioned, He Claims

The report that Mr. H. G. Perry, Liberal member in the Provincial Legislature for Fort George, will be the Liberal candidate in the Federal contest in the Cariboo riding is not correct, according to Premier Oliver, who returned on Sunday from Vancouver, where he met Mr. Perry.

Mr. Perry, it appears, was offered the Liberal nomination for Cariboo, but at a meeting held on Friday, at Kamloops, his name was put up without his consent, and was accepted by those present at the meeting. But Mr. Perry refused to accept the nomination, asking that he be allowed a week within which to make his announcement. Should he refuse to run, the committee appointed at the meeting will name a candidate.

Mr. Perry came over to Victoria on Saturday, but finding Premier Oliver away in Vancouver, immediately went over to the Mainland and conferred with Hon. Mr. Oliver. In view of the Premier's announcement that Mr. A. Macdonald, M.P.C., who will run in the Liberal interest in Burrard riding, will be the only Government member of the Legislature to enter the Federal field, it would appear that Mr. Perry has given the Premier his assurance that he will stay in the Provincial field.

If, as it is expected, the Federal contest is held on or about December 1, any Provincial members who may decide to enter the Federal field will be able to sit in the Legislature up to two weeks before the election, as nominations for the Dominion House will not be formally made until then. While in Vancouver, Premier Oliver attended to P.O.E. matters on Saturday morning, and attended the Ladder meeting in the afternoon.

G.W.V.A.—The regular fortnightly meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in their club quarters, Ration Street. An executive meeting will precede the general gathering, commencing at 7 o'clock. All members of the association are expected to be present.

TELLS INTERESTING
FACTS ABOUT B.C.

Deputy Minister of Lands Tells
Gyros About Scene in Mountains
With Twenty-Nine
Glaciers in Sight

It is possible to stand on an eminence close to the geographical centre of British Columbia, commonly called "a sea of mountains," and on a clear day see nothing higher than perhaps a few rounded hills on the far horizon. This was one of the interesting facts made known by Mr. (I. H.) Naden, Deputy Minister of Lands, in a talk before the Gyro Club yesterday. The location to which he referred was one near Prince George, on the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mr. Naden placed his remarks under three heads, beauty, climate and natural resources of British Columbia. Victoria, he admitted, might be perhaps the most beautiful city in the Province, but he named other towns of British Columbia which had also excellent scenic advantages. Highways, too, were named by him as comparing favorably with those of which Vancouver Island boasts.

What he believes to be the most beautiful sight he has ever seen was described by Mr. Naden. In 1906 he was near the head waters of the Telkwa River, in central British Columbia. He had with him a saddle-horse and a pack-horse. He described to the Gyros the scene which presented itself to his gaze one morning. Just after sunrise, he was in a valley at a height of about 5,000 feet above sea level. Green grass and wild flowers of many varieties were in abundance, and not far distant was a little lake, about a mile long and half a mile in width, and with the rising sun upon them, he counted twenty-nine glaciers in sight from the spot where he stood. "I think I have never seen anything that struck me just like that," said Mr. Naden.

The variety in climate in various parts of British Columbia was touched upon by the speaker, who summed up, "in no part of the Province is there anything to prevent a healthy individual enjoying the climate of British Columbia all year round."

Dealing with the mineral wealth, Mr. Naden spoke of the huge wealth in coal and other minerals. There was possibly more water power available in British Columbia than in any area of similar size elsewhere on the continent. The fertile valleys had only been scratched, and the mountains would provide grazing grounds for cattle. It had always been his ambition, said the speaker, to see if the grass on the mountains could not be utilized, and he was glad to say that today there were three or four times the number of cattle raised than there were some years ago.

Mr. Naden referred, in closing, to the responsibility that lay upon the young men. He believed that British Columbia would become the most important Province of Canada. Development of the last century had been on the Atlantic, he pointed out, but he believed that during the present century it would be on the Pacific.

MAYOR SAYS CITY
MUST REFUND TO PAY

Disappointed by Tax Sale Result—Financial Showdown
Must Be Reached Soon—
Victoria's Credit High

The city will have to do some refunding during the next two or three years to meet its obligations in the way of fixed charges and sinking fund payments in connection with the financing of local improvement works, Mayor Robert J. Porter stated yesterday.

"The result of the tax sale was distinctly disappointing," said the Mayor. We had expected a much better demand and bigger prices. The sale, as it happened, was not much of an improvement upon the sales of the last two years.

Altogether, ninety-five parcels of land were sold to private buyers during the sale which was concluded yesterday morning. Forty were sold at yesterday's session. The city was obliged to take over close to 400 lots, which involved improved and unimproved property delinquent in 1917, 1918 and 1919 general tax payments. The city received $20,851.45. Sale of property in arrears on the ten-year installment basis will be commenced Wednesday morning.

"I cannot see any alternative to borrowing to meet our charges," said the Mayor. "No matter how hard we try, it seems impossible under present conditions to keep expenses within revenues, and there has got to be a showdown, sooner or later. We cannot allow ourselves to accumulate much longer. Refunding seems to be the only way out."

Hopeful Feature

"The hopeful part of the situation is that within a year or so we will have all the principal local improvement payments cleared up. When they are out of the way, our situation will be considerably relieved, because local improvement taxes have been fundamentally responsible for our financial difficulties. Refunding is no new thing and we need not be afraid of it. Many of our later municipalities in Canada have been refunding, and Victoria is regarded as one of the best risks in the country. The latest records showed Victoria standing third to Toronto and Winnipeg, and I think we have improved our position, if anything, since that calculation was made."

"It is out of the question to consider any further modification of terms in a general way in connection with tax payments. We will have to deal with a few individual cases, and may be able to afford some measure of relief, but so far as general policy is concerned I do not believe the city can afford any further concessions. It is, of course, regrettable that so much land must revert to city ownership and it is true that accumulated taxes in some cases almost equal the total assessment. That is no fault of the city, however. Probably six or seven years ago (that property was being held by the owner at a price three or more times as high as the assessment, and very little effort was made to meet the succeeding tax levies. I believe that there is no need for a new revision of taxes on the basis of so-called equalization, because I think the present assessment is fair, subject, of course, to the few changes that may be made by the City Assessor and the Court of Revision in dealing with individual cases."

SUPREME COURT

Judgment was given for the defendants in the case of Joseph W. Vipond, plaintiff, vs. V. M. Galbraith and the Brennan Lake Lumber Company, defendants, before Hon. Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court yesterday.

The action was brought from the Nanaimo registry, and was started in June last to set aside a lien claimed by V. M. Galbraith for labor expended and services performed in connection with certain lumber, the property of the Brennan Lake Lumber Company, of Nanaimo. The grounds on which it was claimed the lien should be set aside were allegations

PIONEER RESIDENT DIED LAST SUNDAY

Late Walter J. Anderson, One of Victoria's Oldest Business Men, Passes Away in the City.

One of Victoria's best-known and foremost pioneers passed away on Sunday afternoon when the death of Mr. Walter James Anderson occurred at his late residence, Burleigh Drive, after a few months' illness.

Mr. Anderson was born at St. Thomas, Ontario, in 1855; his father, the late William Anderson, who was a man of strong character and an artist and literate, settled in the neighborhood of Port Stanley in the first half of the last century, and took a prominent part in the political activities of Ontario in the early days.

The late Walter J. Anderson spent most of the days of his youth in Eastern Canada, and displayed the fine independence of the average young Canadian in later years. He early acquired a knowledge of the building trade, which became his business after he removed to British Columbia.

Because of the discovery of gold in the Cariboo country, this Province was much talked in the East in the early sixties, and it was doubtless this that made the Anderson boys ultimately turn their attention Westward. Jack Anderson, the eldest, whose death took place in 1907, was engaged in the sheep importing trade here for many years, and came to the Province over forty years ago, and Walter followed him.

Relation of John Tod
Mr. Anderson had an uncle living here at that time whose name is historically associated with the first white settlements in this country. He was the late Hon. John Tod, who served for many years honorably with the Hudson's Bay Company. He died at Oak Bay, his home and comprising a large part of the district fronting on the sea. It was Mr. Tod who named "Oak Bay," and his old home, built of imported lumber, still stands.

Upon reaching Victoria, Mr. Walter Anderson's first work was in the employ of Messrs. Hayward & Jenkinson, builders, and he afterwards became a partner in the firm of McKilligan & Anderson. His subsequently continued independently in the same business, specializing as a tile and mantle contractor. He obtained the contract for all the tiling in the Parliament Buildings. Another notable work of his was the supervising of the present Victoria High School building. He was in this business up to the time of his death.

In 1901 Mr. Anderson married Miss Anna Tod, his cousin, and his widow, a sister, Miss J. Anderson. Mr. Anderson was one of those rare characters whose sterling worth, staunch integrity, loyal steadfastness and friendship inspired all who were acquainted with him.

The remains have been taken to the B.C. Funeral Parlors, whence the funeral will take place on Wednesday at 2 o'clock p.m., Rev. Dr. Clay officiating. Interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

CRIME ON DECREASE IS POLICE REPORT
Only Slight Increase in Minor Breaches of City By-Laws—Motor Act Offences, Etc.

Crime is on the decrease in the city according to the monthly report of Const. Thomas Hill for the month of September, which was handed in yesterday. There is a small increase in the number of summary convictions for minor offences against the city by-law during the period covered by the report, which is as follows:

Number of cases in the police court: 78; number of convictions: 78; sent for trial: 1; number discharged or withdrawn: 16; Animals Act, 1; cases of breaking and entering, 1; breaches of city by-laws, 30; cruelty to animals, 1; drunkenness, 12; charged with having opium, 2; having firearms without permit, 1; Liquor Control Act cases, 2; living on the earnings of prostitution, 1; charges of malicious damage to property, 1; Motor Act cases, 23; Opium and Drug Act cases, 5; seduction, 1; stealing, 2; vagrancy, 5.

The number of accidents reported is 25 and the number of cases in which first aid was given is 18. Twenty-one persons were held for safe-keeping and there was one case of unusual mind. There were 149 patrol runs made during the month. The greatest number of cases were in the Motor Act offences, the breaking of city by-laws and drunkenness.

OBITUARY NOTICES
ROBERTS—There passed away on Sunday morning, at the residence, 482 Young Street, James Bay, Katherine Cross, wife of Thomas Roberts, of the Canadian Customs Department, and daughter of the late Alexander Roberts, of Scotland, and the late Margaret of Gairloch, Scotland. The late Mrs. Roberts was sixty-eight years of age, and born at Macdonald, Ontario, and came to Victoria in 1919. She was highly respected by all who knew her. She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Joan G. and Mary Kathleen; four sons, William E., Alexander C., Thomas D., and Alan K. M. Roberts. One sister also survives, Miss Ann Cross, of Macdonald, Ontario, and one grandson, Alexander, of this city. The funeral has been arranged to take place from the family residence on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock, where service will be conducted by Rev. W. L. Clay. The remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

KING—The funeral of Dong King took place from the B.C. Funeral Parlors Sunday afternoon, and services were conducted at the Chinese Cemetery with the usual Confucian rites. Many friends were present at the obsequies, and a large number of Sunday visitors witnessed the ceremony.

ALCOCK—The remains of Baby Muriel Alcock, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Alcock, of "Norwood House," East Avenue, Strawberry Vale, were laid to rest in the Naval Cemetery, Sunday afternoon. The remains were removed from the B.C. Funeral Chapel at 1:30 o'clock, and interment was at the Naval Chapel at 2 o'clock, Rev. W. Baugh-Allen officiating.

KEELER—The remains of the late Mrs. Emma Keeler, wife of D. B. Keeler, of Davidson, Sask., were forwarded last evening by the B.C. Funeral Company to Davidson for interment. A daughter of the deceased, Mrs. Francis M. Craig, accompanied the body East.

COMMEND SAANICH FOR WATER BY-LAW

Chamber of Commerce Directors Pass Resolutions Congratulating Ratepayers — Pipe to Be Fabricated Here

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday commended the Water Extension by-law last week after repeated defeats, and congratulated Saanich ratepayers for passing it.

Alfred A. E. Todd, in proposing a resolution voicing the directors' thought in the matter, recalled that the water extension idea originated at a meeting of three Chamber of Commerce directors at the offices of the Victoria and Island Development Association.

"As a member of the City Council I am very gratified that our efforts in the council to get these rates and discounts offered Saanich have borne fruit," said Mr. Todd, "and understand that the fabrication of the pipe to be used will take place in Greater Victoria, and I hope the bonds will be marketed here, so that the entire project may be local in character."

Miss Melri Matheson, the Gaelic singer, is giving her farewell concert at Caledonia Hall on Friday night. This is Miss Matheson's first visit to Canada, and she is leaving for Eastern Canada almost immediately after her concert, intending to give recitals on route. Eventually she is returning to the Old Land. Although she received her musical education in London, her home is in the Hebrides of Scotland, and she is well able to understand and interpret the Gaelic and Scottish songs which are the principal features of her programmes. She is singing five compositions from Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser's collection, "The Songs of the Hebrides," with Mrs. A. J. Gibson as accompanist, the recital should be an artistic treat for those who enjoy folk-songs of any kind, and the songs of the Highlands in particular.

Mrs. Andrew Gray and her daughter, Miss Betty Gray, of Victoria, who have been away for an extended visit to England, returned to their home on Catharine Street yesterday, and in the evening were the guests of honor at a surprise party given to welcome them on their return. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. C. Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Torquhill, Mrs. M. E. MacLeod, Mrs. A. J. Gibson, Miss J. P. Matson, Miss C. Simmonds, the Misses Marjorie, Agnes and Dorothy Stuart Robertson, the Misses May and Doreen Smith, Miss Mary MacLeod, Miss Laura King, the Misses Jennie and Nellie Turner, Miss Marjorie Campbell, Miss Daggy Scott, Miss Day, Miss J. Innes, Miss Ellen Innes, Miss E. MacLeod, Messrs. H. Burdick, Harry Robinson, Gordon Cameron, J. and T. Matson, Russell Turner, C. Holmes, R. McIlwaine, R. Hall, K. Haymer, A. Lewis, A. W. Wilson, H. SALT SPRING
Mr. and Mrs. O. Eaton, of Ganges, leave next Wednesday for Montreal, en route for England, where they intend staying until February.

A girls' school was started this week at Harbor House, Ganges Harbor, by Miss Ingham, who has recently arrived from Birkenhead, England, where she held a position as teacher.

Mrs. Roberts, of Victoria, arrived last Thursday on the island, where she will be the guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Crofton, at the Canal.

Mr. P. Lowther, of Ganges, is a patient in the Gulf Islands Hospital, suffering from blood poisoning, the result of an accident to his hand incurred while at work on the roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen and child, who have been staying for some months with relatives at Ganges, have removed into a cottage on Rainbow Road, which Mr. Allen has enlarged, and which has been rented by them for three years.

BRENTWOOD
Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, of Vancouver, are spending a few days at the Brentwood Hotel.

Mrs. McKennie and children, of Brentwood, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Crampton, of Mount Newton, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gosling are making preparations to return to their former home on the Pajeros, and will leave here within the coming week.

Mrs. L. Thomson and children left for Vancouver on Saturday afternoon, where they will enjoy an extended visit at the home of Mrs. J. J. Kelly and other friends.

About 150 persons were entertained at the home of Mr. R. P. Butchart on Friday afternoon, when the Pacific Coast fire chiefs motored out from Victoria. Afternoon tea was served in the spacious rooms while the guests listened with pleasure to music played on the newly-installed organ. The visitors also paid a brief visit to Brentwood before returning to the city.

The dance which took place at the West Saanich Hall on Friday evening was the means of introducing two new musicians to the Saanich public in the persons of Miss Fryer and Mr. H. Savage. Their debut met with marked enthusiasm, each of the numbers being heartily encored. Over fifty couples were present from city and country, and the financial returns proved most gratifying. After expenses are paid the balance will be used for the piano fund. Another dance will take place in a fortnight's time.

NANAIMO
Mrs. L. Marshall left for Vancouver yesterday, on a visit to friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson Milton Street, are in Vancouver, visiting friends.

$75 Coats

The Coats we offer at this price fairly radiate expensiveness—but the expensiveness is in quality and appearance only.

They are sample Coats which we purchased at a price less than 25 per cent lower than if bought in the regular way.

The styles are the season's best in wraps and coat models.

The materials are Elvora, Peach Bloom, and extra quality Bolivia and Velour, in many desirable shades.

The trimmings are Beaver, Opossum, Beaverette, Alaska Sable, and every coat is full silk lined and interlined.

It will pay you to investigate this splendid Coat offer, as the savings are considerable.

TENNIS CLUB DANCE

In the celebration of a successful season just closed the Kingston Street Lawn Tennis Club will hold a dance on Friday evening next in the K. of C. Hall, 803 Government Street (next to post office). Heaton's orchestra has been engaged for the event and an attractive dance programme is promised and supper arrangements made. Those proposing to attend are reminded that dress will be informal and tickets, which have been set at a nominal value, are obtainable at Spencer's Music Department, Kirk Coal Company, 1212 Broad Street; Mitchell & Duncan, Ltd., View and Broad; Jos. Sommer & Sons, Ltd., 1013 Government Street, and from members of the club. There will be no tickets sold at the door.

LADYSMITH
Miss Helen Mutrie has been visiting her sister, Miss K. Mutrie, of the Ladysmith High School teaching staff. Miss Mutrie is taking a nursing course at the Vancouver General Hospital, and is visiting here for a day or so during her vacation.

The many friends of Mrs. W. Nimmo, of Long Beach, California, formerly of this city, will be pleased to know that she is recovering nicely from two very serious operations, made necessary as a result of her long illness.

Rev. A. C. Smith, who has been called as assistant pastor to Rev. Dr. Clay, Victoria, visited friends in the city, staying over the week-end. On Saturday evening he was the guest at a house party given by Miss B. Gourlay, when a most enjoyable time was spent.

Miss R. Tranfield, daughter of Mr. Alex. Tranfield, of this city, has been successful in winning a scholarship offered by the Victorian Order of Nurses. Miss Tranfield will now take a seven months' training course at the University of British Columbia, with an allowance of $500 for expenses. Miss Tranfield left on Monday to begin her course at the university.

Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E. Inaugurated Distress Fund to Aid Their Work This Winter

A resolution to the effect that the Chapter's share of the recently held I.O.D.E. Tag Day will be devoted to a distress fund, to be used in the coming winter months in this city, was accepted yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Mrs. Seabrook Young reported on a special case which has been taken up by the Chapter, who voted the sum of $20 to be expended at the discretion of Mrs. Seabrook Young and Mrs. Brentzen. Already several members have offered household goods for this cause, and interested members may leave donations with Mrs. Seabrook Young.

Mrs. H. K. Prior reported on the Soldiers' Graves Committee. To the Florence Nightingale Chapter it was claimed, being the credit of the placing of standards on the soldiers' graves during the winter months, when flowers are scarce and wither immediately.

Arrangements for the Chapter's bazaar were made, and a committee elected to find suitable rooms. Housing meetings have also been inaugurated in preparation for the bazaar, the first to take place on the afternoon of Wednesday, October 11.

The sum of $10 was voted to the forthcoming Hospital ball.

Healthy Mother Merry Children Happy Home

TO maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.

"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.
"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.
"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.

The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered with irregular menstruation, was weak and run down, could not eat, and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy and I seemed to be something. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. PEARSE, 387 King St., Toronto.

Owen Sound, Ont.—"I suffered for ten years with female organic trouble, neuritis and indigestion, and was weak and had such bad pains I could hardly walk or stand up at times. The last doctor I had told me he never expected me to be on my feet again or able to do a day's work. One day one of your little books was left at my door and my husband said I should try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I thank God I did, for it relieved me, and I am now well and strong. I think there is no remedy like the Vegetable Compound for anyone who has my troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors."—Mrs. HENRY A. MITCHELL, 1767 7th Ave. East, Owen Sound, Ont.

LUX For Soft Blankets!

Keep your blankets soft, woolly and comfortable! Guard them carefully in the wash and they will repay you with a doubled life. The safest of all blanket baths is with the rich, creamy, cleansing LUX suds.

The best way to wash blankets.—Use two table-spoonsful of LUX to a gallon of water. Whisk into a thick lather in very hot water. Add cold water until suds are lukewarm. Work your blankets up and down in the suds and squeeze the suds repeatedly through the soiled spots. Do not rub.

Rinse the blankets in three lukewarm waters. Pass through a loose wringer or squeeze the water out. Do not twist. Dry in the shade in a moderate temperature.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY OF B.C. VAST WORK

Scientific Mapping of Canadian Cordillera Has Been Under Way for Sixty Years—Much Remains to Do

Dealing with the "Status of Geological Mapping in the Canadian Cordillera," Dr. Victor Dolmage, of the Canadian Geological Survey, states that this geological work began in 1858 when Henry Bauerman began a traverse along the forty-ninth parallel; that his report which appeared in 1884 was unaccompanied by maps; that actual geological mapping was begun in 1871 by James Richardson, who studied the coal fields of Vancouver Island; and that from 1871 to the present over 90,000 square miles have been geologically mapped and about 4,000 miles of water routes traversed, says Mr. Robert Dunn, secretary to the Provincial Minister of Mines, in a recent issue of the Canadian Mining Journal.

In the terms of Union of British Columbia with the Dominion of Canada in 1870 it is clearly set out in Section 5, sub-section H, that the Dominion Government shall maintain and continue the geological survey in this Province. For this reason British Columbia has a special claim to the attention of the Canadian Geological Survey, a claim which it must be admitted has been well recognized of late years, the Pacific Coast Province having had at least its fair proportion of geological and topographical parties allocated to work with in the borders.

Huge Work Yet to Do
Still Dr. Dolmage's findings, unquestionably based on information carefully compiled from the records of the Canadian Survey Branch, is of special interest because it brings home the extent of the task before that organization. The area of British Columbia is placed at 372,830 square miles and yet from 1870 to the present only about 10 per cent of the Canadian Cordillera has been geologically mapped. At this rate it would take at least 150 years to complete the work in this Province. But government officials are alive to the importance of the work now as they never were before. There is no doubt that from this time onward it will be pressed for the reason that the data is essential scientifically and that it is invaluable as an aid to the economic development of the minerals of the country.

The change that has taken place in methods is explained by Bro. Dolmage when he says that about 42,800 square miles of the 90,000 square miles were done by early explorers on a scale of 8 miles to the inch and that "though some of it may be classed as good reconnaissance survey, much of it is only exploratory work. About 3,100 square miles of good reconnaissance were done on 6 miles to the inch by more recent workers. About 21,000 square miles were done on a scale of 4 miles to the inch, all of which work is good reconnaissance survey and some of it may even be classed as detailed work. About 4,800 square miles were mapped on one mile to the inch, all of which is detailed work and much of it very detailed. About 163 square miles of refined work were done on scales ranging from 400 to 2,640 feet to the inch."

Two Classes of Work
There is a division in the class of work done between that prior and subsequent to the present century. The former was of an exploratory or reconnaissance character; the latter has been nearly all detailed. Earlier period maps cover huge areas done on a scale of 8 to 4 miles to the inch while those of the later period deal with smaller much more thoroughly traversed areas.

The men of the earlier period are described as itinerant geographers who accentuated that phase of geology, devoted much of their time to areas underlain by sedimentary rocks. In the second period more stress has been laid on the study of the study of igneous rocks. Economic studies during the earlier phase were largely of coal areas and placer ground—no doubt because those were the resources of general attention and knowledge of which was generally sought—while now more attention is being paid to metalliferous deposits.

Complimentary reference is made to such earlier workers as George M. Dawson, A. R. C. Selwyn, R. G. McConnell, J. Richardson who "laid with skill the broadest and sure foundations upon which all subsequent work must be built. Dawson's work," it is stated, "was of an exceptional character, and will always remain the basis for future work in almost every part of the Canadian Cordillera."

In discussing the maps of the first period it is said that they may be divided into three types. The most primitive was made by traversing the great inland water routes of the interior and either mapping the geological formation encountered or merely sketching in the topography and describing the geology. "In this way Selwyn examined some of the proposed routes of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1871 and 1875, which included parts of the Fraser, Chilliwack, Pine and Peace Rivers; Dawson examined the Yukon, Stikine, Skeena and Peace; McConnell, the Yukon, Liard, Pelly, Klondike and Finlay Rivers." A second type of map covered large areas from 8,000 to 3,000 square miles in extent on a scale of from 4 to 8 miles to the inch, and the work, involving a great deal of topographic surveying as well as geological mapping, usually was completed in one or two seasons and so necessarily was somewhat sketchy. Then there was a third type, a detailed map embracing a small area in one or other of the coal bearing districts.

Greater Accuracy and Detail
R. G. McConnell, R. W. Brock, O. E. Lacey, Charles Cameron and others are mentioned as having worked in the second period. Brock and McConnell's West Kootenay Sheet was the first map in which the change occurred. It was a four mile map embracing over 6,000 square miles and distinguished by its greater accuracy and detail, the result of more complete traversing, and the application of photography, which differentiated a number of types of igneous rocks. "After this," Dr. Dolmage proceeds,

"came a more distinct change in the class of work undertaken. In the methods employed and, consequently, in the results obtained. All of the workers above mentioned devoted themselves to the close detailed study of mineral deposits and their immediate vicinity. After 1887, it became a rule for a time the policy of the Survey to do this class of work. There resulted a great number of small maps covering a few hundred square miles at most, on scales ranging from a fraction of a mile to two miles to the inch. These were executed in great detail, and, though a topographic division had not yet been established in the Geological Survey, accurate contour maps were used for most of this work."

Examples of this type of work are given which, it is stated, was followed by a phase during which, though economic geology still took a prominent part, other branches of the science, such as physiography, structural geology, stratigraphy and petrology, received much attention. The latter began with Daly's work on the Forty-ninth parallel. Of this it is asserted that "the undertaking was a large one, the time was limited, adequate topographic base maps were not always available, no geographically trained assistant was employed and the work was confined to a strip along a straight line where outcrops were sometimes scarce and fossiliferous exposures still more rare. These conditions necessitated hasty work with insufficient traverses and, as Daly himself says the quality of the work lies half way between reconnaissance survey and detailed survey. As a natural result the maps now published on the mile-to-the-inch contour maps of the Boundary Commission do not possess the accuracy they would suggest and already subsequent workers have had to make some important changes in the structure and stratigraphy."

Topographic Division
The organization of the Topographic Division of the Geological Survey at about this time, and the excellent contour maps it produced, had a decidedly favorable influence on the geological mapping done. Instances are given of much 4 to 6 mile work, partly of reconnaissance nature and partly of detailed nature. Illustrations are also cited of "two mile" maps, somewhat more refined and it is said that a great deal of work has been done recently on a scale of one mile to the inch and less, all of which has been done in great detail and with considerable accuracy "although not necessarily directly related to mineralized areas."

The period as a whole is characterized as one in which all phases of geology receive about equal attention. The policy in effect since 1918 is to confine the work to areas of known economic importance as to areas at present within easy reach of transportation. Accordingly Mr. Schofield has mapped the Britannia Mineral Belt, lying between Howe Sound and Burrard Inlet. J. J. O'Neill began and George Hansen is completing an area in the Salmon River district of Northern British Columbia. W. E. Cockfield has just published a sheet on scale of one mile embracing Sixty Mile and Ladur Rivers in the Yukon district, and is at present engaged in mapping in the vicinity of Mayo Lake. W. A. Johnson has just completed a detailed investigation of the Fraser Delta. Dr. Dolmage himself has completed a shoreline map of the west coast of Vancouver Island from Barclay Sound to Cape Scott, which was executed on a scale of one mile to the inch. In 1917 Charles Cammell, now Deputy Minister of Mines at Ottawa, made a geological map of a section along the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Squamish to Lillooet. R. R. Mackay began and W. A. Johnson continued a detailed map of super-genial geology in the Cacheo gold placer belt in central British Columbia. C. E. Cairnes is completing a map of an area along the Coquihalla River, which was begun by Mr. Cameron in 1919. M. F. Hancock is engaged in mapping a large area in the Skeena district southeast of Revelstoke. J. R. Marshall is continuing the detailed mapping in the Elk River district, eastern British Columbia, which was previously carried on by Bruce Rose.

It will be quite clear that the Geological Survey is doing an invaluable work in this Province and that already its records, which are available to those connected with the mining business in the West, are sufficiently extensive to be used more commonly than perhaps is now the case for purposes of reference. The policy recently adopted and in effect means thorough, accurate and authoritative scientific knowledge of mineralized zones will be obtained when and as such zones are discovered, that the geologist and the topographer will follow in the footsteps of the prospector and that geology and topography make sections of the Province will be subjected to the more refined investigation and mapping as transportation makes their resources more readily available for developments.

Woman Was Unable To Dress Herself

Wife of Alberta Business Man, Once Helpless as Baby, Is Now Well and Strong

"My wife actually had gotten so helpless she couldn't dress herself, and we had to carry her whenever she wanted to move," said Robert M. Graham, a well-known merchant of Newbrook, Alberta.

"Something over a year ago my wife had a serious attack of influenza, which left her as helpless as a baby. She fell off more than thirty pounds in weight and was a mere shadow of her former self. Her stomach was so disordered that nothing she ate agreed with her, and, to add to her misery, she had awful headaches nearly every day.

"I have never in my life seen anything to equal the way Tanlac built her up. She has regained all her lost weight, her digestion is perfect, and she never complains of headaches any more. Tanlac certainly brought the sunshine to our home."

Announcing Special Displays of Original French Model Coats and Wraps Commencing Thursday

A NOTABLE STYLE PRESENTATION

To the woman who loves beautiful clothes, Parisian garments are the incarnation of all her dreams and desires.

Here are creations direct from Paris; models wonderful to behold, designed and carefully executed. Each model has an exclusiveness and originality all its own and they come from the leading French coutouriers.

From Carra's comes a coat with full length fur duvetyn revers; the body is of deep brown, while the cape collar is dyed squirrel; Copenhagen silk lining enhances the beauty of this model.

In a manner cunningly devised by Bernard is a coat of navy duvetyn, trimmed with narrow bands of mole, stitched with gold and embroidered with silk.

Maurice has accomplished a coat of tan hock, with mahogany leather binding for the pockets, and darts of the same.

The Parisian has a decided penchant for duvetyn, which is used effectively in a coat of Bernard & Company, in the new tomato shade, lined with slate grey and trimmed with opossum.

Around and around go the scalloped flounces on a Maurice & Mayer creation. But they do not go far enough, and all the flounces fail to meet at the back; they are finished with silk tassels of russet brown which blend into the deeper shade of the velour de laine material.

All the whims of Dame Fashion were studied carefully by Carra and carried out in this coat of rust chinchilla, trimmed with silk braid and wool embroidery; collars and pockets of seal; inverted pleats below pockets in triangle shape.

View these wraps and coats in a special window display today.

BUYING HAIR

"Curly locks—penny a box"

Years ago human hair could possibly be bought at the price named in the nursery rhyme. Collectors used to visit the villages on the Continent, and the girls would part with their tresses for a gaudy silk handkerchief or a string of beads.

But nowadays they have a keener appreciation of the value of the wares they have to sell, and human hair fetches a very considerable price in the market.

The value depends mainly on the length and fineness, and to a minor extent on the color. For a long switch of silky texture, cut straight from the head, as much as £10 a pound will be paid. Combings are worth only about half the price, but a very special quality, such as fine white hair with a natural wave, will fetch anything up to £20 an ounce.

Most of the best quality hair used in the trade comes from Italy and France, but this is usually dark in color. The blonde hairs are gathered from Germany and Sweden. Coarse black hair, worth about 10s. a pound, is imported in large quantities from China for the cheaper goods. It is a curious thing that the farther East one goes the coarser is the hair of the inhabitants.

When the hair arrives in bulk, it is first thoroughly washed with hot water, soap and soda. Then it is passed in small quantities of about half an ounce at a time through a special machine, which scrapes each hair, thus ensuring perfect cleanliness.

No matter how severely the hair is scrubbed and scraped, if it has a natural wave it will survive the most drastic treatment and keep its wave to the end.

When it is clean and dry it is tied up in switches, and is ready to be made into wigs, curls, transformations, fringe nets and other aids to beauty.

A certain amount is bleached to make white wigs, because natural white hair is very scarce.

There is a good deal of waste in the making-up process, as, up to the present, no one has discovered a use for the clippings and ends of hair, which are thrown away or burnt. The present fashions in hairdressing do not favor the use of switches, and merchants are sighing for the days when a built-up mass of hair was the crown of a woman's head.

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by Duncan E. Campbell and by leading druggists everywhere.

HEILMAN IS TOP IN AMERICAN BATTING

Practically Tied With Ty Cobb,
Ruth Coming Third—
Hornby Easily Leads in Nationals

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Harry Heilmann, Detroit's slugging outfielder, won the 1921 batting championship in the American League by .302 of a point, according to unofficial figures made public today.

Heilmann's boss, Manager Ty Cobb, says he has a merry chase for the title. They were virtually tied when the season closed yesterday, with .299 each, but the figure when carried out to four decimal places gave Heilmann .2994 and Cobb .2991.

Ruth, New York, was third, with .277; Slater, St. Louis, last year's champion, fourth, .271, and Speaker, Cleveland, fifth, .267.

Heilmann participated in 149 games, was at bat 622 times, scored 113 runs, and made 235 hits. A year ago he ranked 33rd in the batting list with .269.

Cobb, who last year was the ninth ranking American League batsman, with an average of .234, was in 21 less games than Heilmann this season. He batted 563 times, scored 132 times and made 197 hits.

Roger Hornby, the St. Louis Cardinals' star second baseman, topped the National League batters with .295, the unofficial figures showed.

This is an increase of 28 points over his total last year, when he was also the National champion hitter. Roush, Cincinnati, was second this year with .282; Cruise, of Boston, third, with .249; McEllenry, of St. Louis, fourth, with .248, and Meusel, New York, fifth, with .243.

Tied in Final

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Riversides and St. Simon's played to a tie, three all in a senior O. L. A. final here Saturday.

Some lively hitting featured the final game. Jacobson, St. Louis Browns, cracked the ball safely to each of his five times up and stole three bases. Evers, of Brooklyn, hit a double and two singles. In two games which the Chicago Cubs won from Cincinnati, Catcher O'Farrell, of Chicago, made five hits in seven trips to the plate, his two safe hits in the second contest giving him a perfect average for this game.

Roger Hornby, the National League's leading batter, however, went hitless in four times up, but he made eight assists and a putout in the field.

Water Johnson turned in 10 strikeouts in his team's victory over Philadelphia.

Grouse Afford Fair Sport for Hunters

Majority Report Numbers of Birds Up to Expectations—Pheasants and Quail Exceptionally Numerous—Buck Law Has Kept Down the Number of Deer Killed

The first closing day of this year's hunting season arrived on Sunday, Saturday being the last day on which it was lawful to shoot grouse in the Islands electoral district. The fine weather of this week-end saw a large number of hunters out in the woods trying to connect with the elusive blue grouse and the many buck and sport seems to have been fair, taking it all round.

So far, the hunting season is generally regarded as distinctly better than last year. Although there is the usual percentage of hunters who have not had much luck for one reason or another with the blue grouse, the majority are not complaining of results very much. Sport has varied a great deal in different districts. One of the best during the opening days was Salt Spring Island. A few hunters who habitually hunt that district had rather less than their usual luck, but the majority did quite nicely. The birds were certainly there in great numbers on the opening day, but the rain of the following few days made a difference, and those hunters who were out during the week found the grouse rather hard to find, but what are told that one hunter at any rate, who does not profess to be a good shot, and has had little experience with blue, managed to bag his limit of six without any difficulty. It looks as though the stock on the island is not yet nearing depletion, in spite of the fact that there was a very large number of men out with guns and dogs.

On the Malahat

Reports of sport on the Malahat range vary very much. The number of hunters out was probably not so large as usual; certainly less than in previous years. The number of licences have been issued this year than last by quite a large margin. Around the Summit, bags were not very heavy on the opening day, though those hunters who went in from near the Twenty-Five Mile Post seem mostly to have done quite well with the birds. From most of the districts further afield reports have come in of good sport, with birds plentiful and coveys big. Some particularly good sport was enjoyed in the Courtenay district, where the "Blues" are reported very numerous. The hunting for blues from now on depends a great deal on the weather. There are plenty of berries on the lower levels, and hunters say that the grouse have not yet retreated back into the higher mountains, though sometimes they seem certainly mighty hard to find lower down. The early morning and late evening hunter is having best results, and one hunter who was out in the big storm on Tuesday of last week found birds quite plentiful and sitting very close, which tends to support the theory that they are for the most part up in the trees now in the daytime except when wet and windy weather induces them to seek warmer and less draughty positions.

Lots More Time

Although the season has now closed for grouse in the Islands District, it is still open on Vancouver Island until November 13, and there is no doubt that the few well will have some good sport before the season ends, though most of the hunters are now counting the days until the season opens for pheasants and quail. Both of these species are generally reported as being exceptionally plentiful, and the opening day is being anticipated with corresponding eagerness. This year's breeding season was a very good one, and the young broods of birds were spared the dangers of cold rains when small. Consequently coveys of all sorts are large. Not only are the species plentiful, but the opening day is being anticipated with corresponding eagerness. Saving the Doe

As for the deer, the new buck law has made a big difference in the number of deer brought into town by hunters. Some good bucks have been killed, but at this early stage of the open season deer are being especially bagged than bucks as a general rule, the old boys being for the most part still high up and far back. With the hunting camp open yesterday, one many deer have so far been shot, though the rather too frequent rain to please most people in the early part of the season would have made deer hunting easy. As a matter of fact, a lot of does have been seen by grouse and deer hunters, and one hunter reports having passed up a doe less than nine on his week-end hunt.

FISHING IS EXCELLENT

Any sportsman who have not been having the best of sport with the gun may be interested to know that fishing for grilse and salmon is extraordinarily good just now. In Saanich Arm some really phenomenal catches are being made, as many as 10 and 20 grilse to a boat being taken last Sunday, and the Cohoos are running well and giving good sport. In Cowichan Bay equally good conditions prevail, and the salmon fishermen are finding no difficulty in landing large catches. One visitor to the Bay caught thirty-one salmon in fine condition in three days, and was only fishing from two to three hours each day.

MISS LEITCH MAKES GOOD START AT DEAL

Well Up in Qualifying Round for American Women's Golf Championship—Canadians Are Eliminated

DEAL, N.J., Oct. 3.—Miss Glenna Collett, 18-year-old Providence star, and Mrs. Latham Hall, of Midway, England, were tied for the qualifying final at the opening of the annual tournament for the women's golf championship of the United States, at the Hollywood Country Club today. They played the 18 holes in 25 each.

Next in the standing was Miss Cecil Leitch, British, French and Canadian champion, with 87. Miss Alexia Stirling, defending United States champion, had 88.

Five of the eight foreign entrants failed to qualify. They are: Miss Doris Chambers, of England, who withdrew after playing a round in approximately 100 and all the Canadian entrants. Misses Ryall and Hazel Kennedy, Montreal, sisters, had 100 and 101, respectively.

Miss W. Gage, of Toronto, had 110. Miss Kate Robertson, of Montreal, did not appear at the tournament.

Of a total of 133 entrants, 144 started in the qualifying round, which, beginning with light showers in the morning, was played in a heavy rain in the afternoon. Miss Leitch had the advantage of moderately dry turf, except for her last few holes.

UP-ISLAND SOCCER
ENDS IN A DRAW

South Wellington and Lady-smith Unable to Score Against Each Other in Rather Tame Game

LADYSMITH, Oct. 3.—South Wellington and Lady-smith met on Sunday afternoon on the Lady-smith Athletic Grounds, in an Up-Island League soccer game, and a more or less quiet game ensued. Only at times were there any exciting plays, and these were few and far between. Neither team seems to have gotten into its stride yet, and combination, such as was seen last year, was more often missed than found.

The first period found Lady-smith playing with ten men, owing to the enforced arrival of their goalkeeper, and the game ended in a draw. The teams, the local boys having the better of the play by a small margin.

In the second half the South Wellington team played with more combination, and pressed the local defence hard on several occasions. Lady-smith relied mainly on spud-kick rushes. The local boys had hard luck on three or four occasions, missing the goal by inches and striking the crossbar time and again.

Neither side was able to register a score, and the game ended in a draw. For the visitors Stobart played a hard game, breaking up the attacks of the local forwards in fine style, and the game ended in a draw.

In the intermediate League, Lady-smith registered two more points by defeating Nanaimo in a hard game by one goal to nothing.

INTERMEDIATE SOCCER
IS WON BY THE METS

Score Against C.F.R. Team Was Four to Nothing—Broad of Football Shows Plenty of Promise

Quite a number of interested spectators witnessed the practice match between the Metropolis and C.F.R. at the Central Park on Saturday afternoon. These two intermediate teams put up a good exhibition of soccer, and were dangerous in front of goal. Dows and Hayward were in good form, and each scored in the first half.

The Railroad boys tried hard to find the net, but had not their shooting boots on, apparently. Price, Sherwood, Upward and O'Neill played a sterling game, and Dorr Grant, at centre half, did brilliant work. The Met's defence was hard to beat; Columbine was a stone wall at back, leaving West very little to do in goal. Clunk, on the left wing, put in some good corners and showed some speed at times. The second half was all in favor of the Met, Dyrkborough taking the ball through and scoring with a low shot soon after the start. Dows adding another five minutes from the finish, beating the Railroaders four to none.

Dick Reas, in goal, brought off some good saves, including a penalty, or the score would have been somewhat larger. However, the C.F.R.

FANS POURING IN FOR WORLD'S SERIES

One and Only Topic in New York Now Chances of Rival Yankees and Giants in Deciding Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—New York plunged into a sea of baseball argument today and at the same time divided itself for the rest of the week into the Yanks and Giants, meet in world series combat at the Polo grounds on Wednesday.

Meanwhile the officers of the opening day were making final preparations for the post-series classic. At the Giants' headquarters all the tickets have been reserved, it has been announced.

From all parts of the country are pouring into the city, and hotel managers are counting on filling their accommodations. The seating capacity of the Polo grounds is given as 25,000, but ambitious sports fans have been able to find "room for one more."

The Final Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—With the major league baseball season passed into history, the eyes of the sporting world—and that includes nearly everybody—are turning toward the Polo Grounds. There on Wednesday the Giants and Yankees will begin their struggle for the title of world's champions.

The National League champions finished the season with a defeat by their old rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, yesterday, while the Yankees wound up by winning from the Boston Red Sox. Pittsburgh maintained second place in the National League by defeating St. Louis Cardinals, and St. Louis won third place in the American League by defeating Detroit. Cleveland lost its final contest to Chicago.

Lively Hitting

Some lively hitting featured the final game. Jacobson, St. Louis Browns, cracked the ball safely to each of his five times up and stole three bases. Evers, of Brooklyn, hit a double and two singles. In two games which the Chicago Cubs won from Cincinnati, Catcher O'Farrell, of Chicago, made five hits in seven trips to the plate, his two safe hits in the second contest giving him a perfect average for this game.

Water Johnson turned in 10 strikeouts in his team's victory over Philadelphia.

Umpires Appointed

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—President Johnson, of the American League, has appointed George Moriarty and Ollie C. Hill as the American League umpires for the world series.

BABE IS ONE SHORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Babe Ruth, home-run king, and star batsman of the 1921 American League champions, today announced his 1922 batting camp plan. Babe Ruth, who won 55th home run yesterday, was one short of the season mark he had set for himself, said he would make another effort to reach the three-score total next year.

"We'll go gunning for that sixty mark next season," the Yankee slugger declared, "and I have a sneaking hunch that I'll make it."

Ruth's 1921 record, five better than his 1920 performance.

PATRICK SIZES UP HOCKEY PROSPECTS

P.C.H.A. President Has Been Looking Over Situation in Prairie Districts—No Dearth of Talent

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3.—Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, who has been spending a few days in Winnipeg on his way back home after a trip to Scotland, says that hockey should enjoy another prosperous season in the Coast. Though he is well supplied with talent for all three teams, he has been on the lookout for any likely material in Manitoba, but does not expect to land any players.

Patrick talked with Mike Goodman, the local Falcon star, this morning, but Goodman would not commit himself, and seemed satisfied to stick at the amateur game for another year at least. It is just possible that the Coast promoter will make offers to Armstrong and Hill, of Port Arthur, who played with Brandon last year. Patrick will likely stop at Regina and Calgary on his way home to look over the newly-formed professional circuits in the West.

were not quite in condition as a team on Saturday, and with a little more practice will make a formidable aggregation. The game was clean all through, and, no doubt, the Intermediate League fixtures will be a greater attraction this year, judging by the brand of football these two teams displayed.

LAYTON WINS OPENING GAME FROM WESTON

PITTSBURG, Oct. 3.—John Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., present champion, defeated Chas. Weston, of Pittsburg, 50 to 44, in the opening game of the national three-cushion billiard championship play which began here tonight. There were 66 innings. Layton's high run was four, and Weston's five. Both tied in the 44th inning with 36. A run of two for Layton in the next inning placed him in the lead, which he maintained thereafter.

MOTOR TRAVEL FELL OFF LAST SEASON

One hundred and ninety-eight less automobiles were brought into Victoria last season by tourists than during the travel period of 1920, Mr. George I. Warren informed directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Mr. Warren stated that he had secured these figures from Mr. H. W. Rodin, general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"The decrease was noted in the number of cars coming to Victoria from all directions—from Nanaimo, from Vancouver to Nanaimo, from Seattle and from Port Angeles," said Mr. Warren.

"Preparations are being made to attract a much larger number of cars next season," and the C.P.R. will provide first-class facilities. The new ferry, Mr. Rodin told me, will have accommodation for covered cars such as "motorhomes."

Mr. Warren said that Mr. Rodin, as well as other C.P.R. officials, warmly commended the amusement centre scheme and held that its establishment would justify Victoria's claims as one of the leading tourist centres in the country.

Mr. Chris. Spencer, a former president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, briefly addressed the directors, telling them that after a tour of Europe he came back more convinced than ever that Canada was the best place to live in, and that British Columbia was the best spot in Canada.

"I hope that the people of British Columbia will see their way clear to make more use of British Columbia House in London," said Mr. Spencer. "Mr. Wade is doing good work there."

EMPEROR OF ASIA DOCKS FROM ORIENT

Dr. Tyau, Chinese Minister to Cuba, and Dr. J. C. Ferguson, Chinese Government Advisor, Were Passengers

At daybreak yesterday the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Asia reached port from the Orient. The big vessel came across in fast time, completing the passage here at 8 a.m. nine days from Yokohama.

The passenger list was not as heavy as in past voyages, the liner bringing in only 150 first and 100 second class travelers. In the steerage were some 700 Orientals.

Among the saloon passengers were Dr. Phillips Tyau, newly-appointed Chinese Minister to Cuba; Dr. J. C. Ferguson, advisor to the Chinese Government, accompanied by Mrs. Ferguson; Mr. Limson Tao and Mr. Pung Wah Wang, secretaries to the Chinese delegation to the Pacific Conference; Mrs. G. T. Chao, wife of Mr. G. T. Chao, director of the Chinese Educational Mission, Washington; P. H. Kingsley, of the Philippine Mission to the Philippines, and W. P. Simma, Orient correspondent for the United Press and the Scripps syndicate, on his way to Washington.

The Asia had a pleasant passage across the Pacific, apart from a little fog. She cleared for Vancouver at 9:30 a.m. yesterday.

THIS DEVICE BOON TO WIRELESS OPERATORS

When Message Starts to Come In, Bell Automatically Awakens Sleeper—Experimental Apparatus as Yet

The very latest in wireless devices, including an automatic bell to awaken the sleeping operator when a message is to be picked up, is carried by the cargo steamer Calmar, which arrived recently at Montreal on her maiden trip for the Calmar-Thompson Line.

Her whole wireless installation is of the most modern type, built by the Radio Communication Company, of London, and the first of that kind installed by the firm on any ship. A representative of the company, Mr. Hainbridge Bell, made the first voyage of the vessel for the purpose of carrying out a number of experiments, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the results.

In addition to being fitted with the standard set of wireless, the ship also has a direct finding set of an entirely new type. This enables the vessel to determine her position by the direction of the call sent out by the land stations, and eliminates the necessity of calling the stations herself, a necessity which might arise in a fog when many other vessels are calling at the same time. This direct finding set is carried in a box four feet square and does not require the rigging of aerial wires. The set is so powerful that it can be read by the ship when she was well inside the Belle Isle Straits.

In connection with the wireless the Calmar also carries an experimental model of an automatic call device. When the ship receives a wireless call from another vessel this device rings a bell, which can be fitted anywhere in the operator's room or on the bridge for the officer on watch. The device is fitted with shutters similar to those on a telephone switchboard. By means of these the nature of the incoming call can be ascertained at once, whether it is of the ordinary variety or a distress signal. On ships which carry only one operator the automatic call device enables the wireless receiving set to be in operation twenty-four hours a day, as the bell awakens him if asleep or calls the attention of the officer on duty.

The Calmar was launched on November 25, 1919, and sailed on her maiden voyage on August 28 last. Of 2,823 tons, she has a deadweight capacity of 2,700 tons and carries a crew of forty-two, including the captain. She is driven by geared turbines of the latest type, embodying a number of improvements and able to burn either coal or oil fuel.

OLD-TIME SKIPPER FELL DEAD ON DECK

VANCOUVER, Oct. 3.—The death of Captain August J. Bjerre, one of the best known of the old-time skippers of the coast, occurred on Saturday morning on board his vessel, the tugboat Commodore, of heart trouble. The Commodore was engaged towing logs from Queen Charlotte Island to Powell River, and Captain Bjerre had just given orders to alter the course towards Captain's Cove, when he fell to the deck and was dead when his officers ran to him and picked him up. The tugboat Ivanhoe was summoned and took charge of the tug. The Commodore then proceeded under the first mate to Prince Rupert, where the body was placed on board the steamer Prince George, which sailed from there Saturday night.

A Practical Prescription For Sour, Acid Stomach

Nine-tenths of all cases of stomach trouble nowadays are caused by too much acid. In the beginning the stomach itself is not diseased but if this acid condition is allowed to continue, the acid is very likely to eat into the stomach wall and produce gastric ulcers. This may render a radical surgical operation necessary in order to preserve life. Therefore, an "acid stomach" is really a dangerous condition and should be treated seriously. The excess acid or stomach hyperacidity can easily be neutralized by Bismarck's Magnesia in a powerful dose in a glass of water after each meal. Larger quantities may be used if necessary as the Bismarck's Magnesia is absolutely harmless. Be sure to ask your druggist for the pure Bismarck's Magnesia especially prepared for this purpose. STRIKE SPREADS ON NEW YORK WATERFRONT

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The ranks of strikers along the waterfront were increased today. Coal handlers and carpenters engaged in bunkering ships in overseas trade walked out at several piers, joining the longshoremen who struck last Saturday in protest against the new wage agreement cutting their pay from 50 to 65 cents an hour, which was accepted by the International Longshoremen's Association.

Other longshoremen also struck today.

A decision to deal only with recognized local unions and officials of the International Longshoremen's Association with reference to wages and working conditions, was reached today at a meeting of employing stevedores and steamship agents.

Strike leaders claimed they were gaining recruits at all of the New York and Jersey piers.

N. Y. K. PRESIDENT PLANS VISIT HERE

Head Officials of Japanese Line Expected to Tour Coast—Faster Service Across Pacific Intended

President Ito, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, is planning to pay a visit to Victoria and other Pacific Coast ports in the near future, according to information reaching W. R. Dale & Company, local agents for the Japanese steamship line. Nothing definite regarding the vessel that will carry the president on his tour of departure from Japan is known as yet, but it is understood that the tour is now being arranged, and that the party will include, not only the head of the company, but the vice-president and a large number of its leading officials as well. The trip will be a tour of inspection of the Pacific Coast and an investigation into the transportation problems on this side as they affect the N. Y. K.

The company at the present time is speeding up their service to this coast from the Orient. Shipping three days from the freight schedule, vessels of the company's auxiliary trans-Pacific fleet will make the voyage from Yokohama to this coast in 14 days. The freighters of the line in the past have been maintaining a 19-day schedule across the Pacific.

Pastor Time on Pacific
The faster service will be inaugurated by the Tokyo Maru, which sailed from Yokohama September 20 and is due on this side October 6. Under the old schedule she would not arrive before October 9. She is a turbine propelled vessel, and it is planned to operate only turbine freight steamships on this route and to maintain a 16-day service permanently.

It is also planned to increase the speed of the passenger liners Fushimi Maru, Katori Maru, Kashima Maru and Suwa Maru which ply between this port and China and Japan and the Philippines. At present a 14-day service is maintained, but the vessels are not operated at top speed. A considerable margin can be cut from the customary time of the passage.

TOLME CHARTERED FOR JAPAN VOYAGE

Local Barkentine Will Load Lumber at Vancouver for McMillan Company—Goes on Berth October 15

The barkentine S. F. Tolme, locally-built vessel, originally constructed for the Victoria (B.C.) Shipowners, Limited, and now in the hands of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine for operating the mail route to the H. R. McMillan Company, the Vancouver export firm. The Tolme will load a full cargo of lumber for Japan. She will carry some 1,500,000 feet, and will go on berth at the C. G. M. dock at Vancouver on October 15.

The Tolme was taken over for operation by the C. G. M. from the Department of Marine about three weeks ago. Prior to that she had been moored at the department's wharf here. She is a 1,500-ton vessel, built by the B. C. Marine, Capt. J. C. Stewart is her commander. When she is loaded with lumber, she will have aboard two local boys from the Boys' Naval Brigade.

Spanish Troops Advance Further
MELILLA, Morocco, Oct. 3.—Continuing their advance against the Moorish tribesmen yesterday, the Spanish troops engaged the rebels along a front of ten kilometers before Zelama, inflicting a loss of more than 1,000. General Berenguer, the Spanish high commander, directed the operations.

New York in 1899, allowed automobiles to travel not more than four miles an hour while turning at street intersections.

CHECK operating costs when you use Imperial Polarine Motor Oils. You will quickly realize their economy when you see how low fuel and oil bills are; what few repairs are necessary and how materially depreciation is slowed up.

But most of all, you'll like the trouble-free operation that the right grade of Imperial Polarine Motor Oils always insures. No one thing adds more to the pleasure and satisfaction of motoring.

Correct lubrication, with Imperial Polarine Motor Oils pays because it saves on every item of motor expense. It pays, too, on the basis of uninterrupted service from your car over a longer period of usefulness.

Always make sure you get the grade of Imperial Polarine Oil recommended on our Chart for your type of motor. See Chart at your dealer's, or write to 56 Church Street, Toronto, for booklet, "Automotive Lubrication."

"TIGER" WISHES REMEMBRANCE

Dwells on France's Rights in Address at Unveiling of Memorial—Reference to Conference at Washington

SAINTE HERMINE, France, Oct. 3.—Georges Clemenceau, France's war Premier, at the unveiling of a monument depicting him in his well-known slouch hat and surrounded by pelius facing the Germans in the trenches, delivered what some observers considered to be his valedictory to the French public. Others, however, considered it as interpreting the "Tiger's" re-entrance into the active political arena of France.

The monument was erected by the people of Clemenceau's native department of Vendee, in honor of the former Premier's activities during the war.

"Let us remember," said Clemenceau, "and let us keep from substituting vain words for the acts which are expected of the country. Let us remember France's motto: 'Live in the peace of justice or perish.'"

"Remember" was the keynote of his speech throughout. "It was a victory," he continued, "was a victory by all the Allies. But as soon as the enemy was disarmed the trouble commenced in the Entente. At Versailles, we handed over the peace. Why has she been permitted to forget it? We hold her signature to undertakings which no longer count. We were the victors, but no one place us in the situation where we ask whether we are still victors."

"I see that some persons are magnificently occupying themselves with safeguarding peace in the Far East. We can wish them nothing but success. But the Pacific Ocean is far away, and the German frontier is very close to us. Why not link together all the disturbing questions?"

"Doubtless national interests in the open sky will always prescribe the future, but common sacrifices will impose respect for the common course. The Washington conference may find in the present state of things occasion to redress wrongs which today are evident."

"Is there anyone, for instance, who sees nothing in our victory but financial defeat; who could not see that forgetful governments remember that the rule of victory is the victory of the vanquished?"

"I am not here to accuse anyone. Evil came from the fact that chiefs with the powers of subordinate welded control that had to be controlled."

"We showed supreme weakness. We lacked nothing, neither in right nor in power. It is not too late to say that reparations and securities are inseparable terms; that each Frenchman is worth one German, and that France renounces nothing of what is due her."

UP-ISLAND VETERANS WANT AMALGAMATION

Courtenay Branch of G.W.V.A. Records Itself as Willing to Sink Its Identity in Unified Body

COURTENAY, Oct. 1.—Amalgamation is now the only subject of conversation between service men, and it formed the basis of discussion at a meeting of the Courtenay G.W.V.A. on Thursday night.

Mr. R. H. Perrott, vice-president, and Mr. W. G. Stubbs, secretary, reported a meeting they had had with members of the provincial executive at Nanaimo. At that meeting the provincial executive voiced their desire to go slowly and favored amalgamation by absorption on the part of the G.W.V.A. as being the largest ex-soldier organization with the largest assets. The meeting in Courtenay is willing to go much further than that to effect amalgamation and pledged themselves to support it even at the sacrifice of the identity of the G.W.V.A. in some fused body. There will be a meeting at Courtenay on Saturday, when members of the provincial executive will be present and the subject will be further discussed. It is probable that a delegate to represent the whole district will be sent to Port Arthur, when the subject of amalgamation will be discussed from a Dominion standpoint.

The Courtenay G.W.V.A. is also anxious to find out why the grant made for road work in the Comox district is not being used. It was pointed out that while the road is badly needed it would also be of great assistance to the returned men in the district, particularly at Nanaimo. The member for the district is to be communicated with and also the Minister of Public Works.

SOOKE MASQUERADE HELPS ASSOCIATION

Last Friday evening the Sooke Athletic Association gave a Masquerade Dance at the Sooke Hall, which was widely attended, not only from Sooke but from Port Point, Metrichois and Victoria. The greatest credit is due to Messrs. P. Grainger, T. Wright, and C. Morris for the manner in which all the arrangements for the evening were carried out. A splendid three-piece orchestra from Victoria, under the direction of Mr. C. Balfour, furnished excellent music, and Mrs. Balfour rendered several popular songs during the supper interval which were greatly appreciated.

Sts. prizes were given as follows. First, best dressed lady, won by Miss Dexter, of Metrichois, who attended in a cleverly-made costume of green maple leaves representing Canada; second, best dressed gentleman, Mr. T. Wright, cavalier; third, best couple, Miss Elsie Meredith, who cleverly impersonated a coon; fourth, best comic gentleman, a coon tramp, Mr. F. Grant; fifth, best dressed girl, Miss Jean Nicholson, Hecla-Hoels.

RETURNS TO FIND HOUSE IN FLAMES

Home of Mr. W. Stacey, of Sidney, Gutted by Fire in Middle of Night—Two Children Away

RIDNEY, Oct. 3.—On Sunday night, about midnight, the home of Mr. W. Stacey, and the bicycle repair and ice cream shops adjacent at the corner of Isacson Avenue and Fifth Street were completely gutted by fire which is believed to have started from an open stove in the dining room of the house. Mr. Stacey had left the residence for a few minutes to bid goodbye to some friends, and when he returned he was met by smoke and flames that prevented him from entering the place. The fire brigade was called, but the flames could not be controlled in time to save the buildings. Nothing was saved.

Mr. Stacey's two children were at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Prince, during the evening, and as they were asleep when Mr. Stacey went to get them he left them there for the night. It was fortunately that he did, for had they been asleep in the burning house it is doubtful if they would have escaped.

As the children are without clothes, except those they wore when they left their home, a meeting of the North Saanich Institute is being held on

Barely Lived Through It

A terrible experience had Edw. J. O'Connor, of Rault Ste. Marie, "From boyhood," he writes, "I have been a constant sufferer from asthma and Catarrh. My nose and throat were often stopped up, and I had disagreeable droppings from my throat. When an attack of coughing came on, it seemed as if I would barely live through it. I would gasp for breath. Catarrhus made me well. Its soothing, healing action was exactly suited to my case." To those who suffer from Catarrh, Asthma, throat irritation and Bronchitis, Catarrhus is recommended. Two months' treatment, one dollar; special sizes 25c and 50c at all dealers, or The Catarrhus Co., Montreal.

BRENTWOOD AND DISTRICT

BRENTWOOD, Oct. 3.—The British Columbia Cement Works at Humberston has closed down for an indefinite period, as the bins now contain a sufficient supply to meet existing demands. An effort will be made to provide repair and construction work for the majority of the employees until such time as the company feels justified in resuming operations.

Residents of the district are taking a keen interest in the coming show of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, and several have prepared exhibits, which will help to make the affair a success. It is hoped that all who can possibly do so will spend at least one afternoon in viewing the display.

NANAIMO SPORT NOTES

NANAIMO, Oct. 2.—In an intermediate soccer game played on the creek grounds yesterday between the Davenport team of the city and Ladysmith, the latter won by a score of 4 to 0.

The Vancouver basketball team journeyed to Chemainus Friday night and were defeated in both games played, the home team having the visitors outclassed in every respect. The Davenport team afterwards entertained by the Chemainus people to a dance and supper which made them forget the beating they had received in the earlier part of the evening.

The soccer game between Cumberland and Granby, which was scheduled to have been played at Granby on Sunday, has been postponed.

Several hundred New England jewelers have joined in establishing a watchmakers' school at Medford, Mass., the first of its kind in the United States.
